Councilman Adams walks through quagmire of election measures at Woman's Club

In his 20th year, Councilman Gary Adams explained to the full house at the Woman's Club the high points of election measures for next week, Nov. 8. He explained that initiatives and Legislative Constitutional Amendments are different since initiatives have not been debated or discussed officially and the Legislature has walked through the amendments.

Legislative Constitutional Amendment No. 189, dealing with bail exception, felony sexual assault, would amend the State Constitution to add felony sexual assault offenses to crimes currently not allowed the right to bail which are capital crimes, felonies involving acts of violence if there's a likelihood of harm if bail is granted, and any felony when the accused person has threatened another with bodily harm and there's a good likelihood that the threat will result in harm.

Number 190 would form a commission of six lay members, three judges and two members of the state bar. The six lay members would be appointed in the following manner: two by the Governor, two by Senate Rules Committee and two by Speaker of the Assembly. This commission transfers authority to remove or discipline judges from the Supreme Court to that Commission and provides public disciplinary proceedings against judges and former judges.

Councilman Adams called No. 191 "housekeeping legislation." It would eliminate justice courts, elevating them to municipal courts. They become the same, so to speak.

All of these have passed both the Assembly and Senate substantially.

Number 181, the Passenger Rail and Clean Air Bond Act of 1994, asks for some transportation money. It proposes that the state sell $1 billion in general obligation bonds with maturity at 20 years to provide for three types of rail services: intercity, commuter and urban rail transit. The measure specifies six intercity rail corridors, 16 commuter rail corridors and 12 urban rail transit routes and requires the use of at least 15 percent ($150 million) of the total bond funds for intercity depending on the size of populations within each corridor. Both the Assembly and Senate voted "yes" on this measure.

Number 183 would change the constitution so that a recall election would be held within 180 days of certification of sufficient signatures in order that the election could be held with the next regularly scheduled election in the same jurisdiction. Current law provides that recall elections must be held between 60 and 80 days from the date of certification of sufficient signatures. It would result in a savings to the state and local governments.

Number 184 is an Initiative Statute with provisions identical to the "Three Strikes You're Out" law that was enacted in March, 1994. Adams said that it should probably deal only with violent offenses.

Another initiative, No. 185, imposes an additional 4 percent tax on retail sales of gasoline with the proceeds deposited into transit and highway trust funds. The revenue would be spent on electric rail and clean fuel buses, light rail, commuter and intercity rail systems, transit for elderly and disabled persons, bicycle projects, crime reduction on transit systems and other transportation programs. The revenues would bring in about $630 million annually with the increase of administrative cost of about $46 million annually.

Number 186 is the single payer health

Annual downtown cleanup day scheduled Saturday

Emelita Bituin, chair of the annual downtown cleanup day on Nov. 5, said that all participants are encouraged to bring gloves, rakes, brooms and any related tools for weeding and clipping.

The cleanup day is on Saturday, Nov. 5, from 9 to 11 a.m. Those who plan to assist should meet in Kersting Court, according to Bituin, who is manager of Sanwa Bank. Cleanup day is sponsored by Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce, all Sierra Madre organizations, residents and merchants.

Refreshments will be served and there will be some special prizes awarded at 11 a.m.

Charles Dalool

Male involved in scam

Charles Dalool is the male suspect identified as the person who is canvassing Sierra Madre, telling residents that he is a relative or friend of a nearby neighbor who needs money for a tow truck or for medical expenses.

According to Detective John Cordischi, the suspect is driving a blue pickup truck with a white camper shell. He is a male Caucasian with brown hair. He is about 5'6" and weighs approximately 130 lbs.

Cordischi said the suspect has a no-bail felony warrant for his arrest.

"If this man comes to your door, contact me immediately at 355-1414," Cordischi said.

Police answer call early Saturday that smacks of murder, mayhem; it ends in death of caretaker of elderly

A call at 1:57 a.m. on Saturday to the 500 block of Michillinda Way was accompanied by eight 9-1-1 calls that lit up the dispatch board at the Sierra Madre Police Department. And a woman found at that location was pronounced dead of a narcotic overdose at Methodist Hospital in Arcadia at 2:30 a.m.

As Officers Dan Ginter and Wayne Shetler, who answered the original call, drove up to the Sierra Madre residence, they heard glass breaking and a woman screaming. They found a plate glass broken, the sidewalk covered with more glass and a gun lying in the middle of the shards of glass.

A woman inside, being restrained by a male, who turned out to be her husband, was bleeding profusely from her arms. Immediately, Ginter and Shetler called for the EMTs.

When the male opened the door, the female ran out, screaming. The officers were able to calm her and she sat on a bench at the front of the house. She kept repeating, "They're trying to kill me. They're trying to kill me."

She ran into the bushes at the front of the house with the officers in pursuit. They thought they had calmed her when she ran out of the bushes and jumped on Shetler's back, growling and flailing her arms while she screamed.

Ginter and Shetler were able to calm her again, and she seemed relaxed. As they attempted to ascertain their situation, the woman went into full cardiac arrest. Shetler began CPR just as Rescue 41 arrived and Fire Department personnel continued CPR while they transported her to Methodist Hospital. She was pronounced dead at the hospital.

Her name was Pamela Sue Barnes, a female, black, 42, from Monrovia. She and her husband, Ellis, had been caring for an elderly couple at that Sierra Madre residence, according to Police Chief Joe Surgent. The elderly woman had been badly bruised and was also taken to Methodist Hospital for an exam. She was released later that morning.

Chief Surgent said that Mrs. Barnes, who was under the influence of cocaine, had gone berserk in the house, had vandalized several rooms, breaking several windows and glass doors and had fired many shots into the ceiling.

The elderly couple have been abused by the deceased but are recuperating.

Surgent said, "Ninety-eight percent of the time we deal with citizen contacts. It's that 2 percent that involves officer safety. This was one of those."

When asked, "What next?" the chief replied, "Who knows?"

News goes to whole city on Nov. 24

The Sierra Madre News will be sent to every home in Sierra Madre as well as all of the other subscribers for the Nov. 24 edition, which is traditionally the Holiday Edition.

In this issue, The News announces the beginning of the holiday season, and provides a format for ads in this special edition. The paper will be sent to at least 7500 homes on Nov. 24.

Those wishing to place specialized ads must provide copy at least the week before and we request that these ads be pre-paid.

Because this issue will be sent a day early, all of the regular ads and editorial copy must be submitted by the Thursday before, on Nov. 17.

Thank you for this assistance in making your holidays more pleasant. Ed.

Planning Commission studies General Plan, Zoning discrepancies

At its meeting of Oct. 27, the Planning Commission acknowledged that a serious discrepancy exists between the General Plan and Zoning Ordinance in the city of Sierra Madre. Numerous parcels of land are affected by inconsistencies in these two documents.

During the period that the city is preparing an updated General Plan, the city is limited to approving projects which are consistent with the existing General Plan. In most cases, the General Plan, which dates from 1973, is more restrictive than the zoning ordinance and map. However, there is an instance where the zoning ordinance is more restrictive.

This primarily affects certain property owners of properties zoned R-2, R-3, and R-P, although a few R-1 and C properties are affected. These owners could be limited to less development than what they originally expected for anywhere from six months to two years.

The Planning Commission will continue the discussion of this important matter at the meeting of Nov. 17, and would encourage any Sierra Madre resident or property owner to attend the meeting. The meeting will be held in the City Council Chambers at 7:30 p.m. Further information can be obtained at the Development Services Department at City Hall. Hours are 8 a.m. to noon, Monday through Friday.

Bicycle helmets—child protection

Guest editorial by Maury Hannigan, Commissioner of Calif. Highway Patrol

Kids have plenty of time to ride their bikes, and parents have a responsibility to protect their children from danger. It comes with the territory. Society expects it.

But sometimes recognizing the danger, or rather not recognizing it, can put the life of your child in jeopardy. For example, although most of us grew up without safety belts or child safety seats, the idea of a child today riding unprotected by these devices seems unthinkable. Laws requiring their use have become widely accepted as logical and worthwhile.

Jan. 1, 1994 marked the beginning of a logical extension for the protection of our children—California's bicycle helmet law. It is now unlawful for anyone under 18 to ride a bicycle on all streets, bikeways, public paths and trails without wearing a bicycle helmet.

In 1992, 122 bicyclists were killed in California, 34 of them were under the age of 18. In addition, 15,750 were injured, with 7198 ages 17 and under. This is a significant number of victims for a pastime that many people consider quite safe.

The fact is that riding a bicycle is risky. When you operate that bicycle on a public street, you are sharing the road with vehicles that are many times your size and moving at many times your speed. When a bicycle and a car, bus or truck collide, the bicycle rider always loses.

Simply falling off a bicycle can inflict serious injury, especially when the rider's head strikes the curb or pavement. Bicycle helmets are designed to absorb that shock and minimize the injury.

The new law requires riders to wear helmets that have been certified to meet or exceed safety standards established by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) or the Snell Foundation. It also makes it illegal to sell bicycle helmets that fail to meet or exceed these standards.

During 1994, violators of the bicycle helmet requirement will receive verbal warnings only. Starting Jan. 1, 1995, they will be cited. The penalty for violations next year will be a maximum of $25.

Under the Pepper Tree

by Jan Reed

• When we were discussing how long our employees had been with us, we began to remember how long our columnists have been faithfully writing columns. Actually, it came up recently when Dick Rogers told me he had been writing for The News for over four years. I could hardly believe it. And he's one of the newer ones.

When I look at the masthead I realize that the ones who have been with us the longest are Albert and Loren Metzger. Loren has been providing us with the rainfall for nearly as long as we've been here. When he moved on to college, his father, Dr. Albert, took over.

Also long-lived is the Lonborg father-son team. First John provided us with the temperatures (after the death of dear Rudy Hartman who began with us on our first week, Oct. 2, 1980). When John moved away, guess who moved into his shoes? Right. His dad, Jim.

There are two teams who have been very responsible week after week, year after year, for all of these 14 years.

Then I looked to Mary Cogswell Baum, our wonderful theater critic, and we honestly don't know how long she has been with us. Would "forever" answer that question?

Harry Martin started on and off with us many years ago. Jill Adler began writing book reviews when she became our very able typesetter before she moved to Ohio a couple of years ago. Ashleigh Katz started her movie reviews about that same time as Jill, and John Henry? Well, I would guess about four years. Dorothy Denne and Megan Edwards are relatively new with Dorothy's typical "coffee klatch" column and Megan's travelogue.

There's one who will cringe if I mention her, but I must. She's our historian, and her history pieces are most popular. Phyllis Chapman.

Thanks to Gertrude Gerke who often provides me with background history info, I'm able to come up with half-way sensible pieces such as those on the Senior Citizen Center history. It was Gertie who brought a number of cards with typewritten info for me to use.

Thanks to you all.

• You're going to think this is a hospital report, but a week ago I had no voice...and just as I got over that and recovered my voice, I came down with pleurisy. Yup. Must be something about this paper! No, it's just a little stress... I'm fine now, as we go to stress, whoops, I mean press...

• Ruth Difley stopped in last week to correct us on a name we were given--the name should be Dick Lees instead of Dick Lee.

Ruth agreed that the Lees lived here in the '40s. Dick's father was a local surveyor. They lived on Grandview east of Mountain Trail on property known as "the little green house," she explained, and said that he was a partner in Lange and Lees.

Ruth said they moved to the beach, and had two sons, Dennis and Rickie.

Now there's a wealth of information from Ruth.

• Laurie and Dick Cooper returned from having traveled 7600 miles, and the list of states through which they traveled! Here they are: Minnesota, Iowa, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Washington, D.C., North Carolina, Florida, New Mexico. And back to Los Angeles. They were visiting family and friends.

• Gertrude Gerke tells us that Faith Lutheran Church's sewing group in Hastings Ranch sent 50 handmade quilts to the World Relief Fund. The congregation gathered 36 pants and 76 shirts for men, and soap totaling 383 pounds. That is some feat. We congratulate you.

• Last week, Joe and Mary Delgatto noted their 59th anniversary and Mary's 84th birthday. Joe, how old are you? He's 83. Our best to you both.

• Alden Webster was in, looking spritely after his bout with illness. He said that the Martin Hays, "a wonderful couple," drive people around to doctors' appointments in Sierra Madre. "What good friends. They want to help, to volunteer," he said. Remember them in your prayers.

To set the record straight

It has been brought to my attention that a presentation was made to the City Council Tuesday evening by Lorayne Russman on behalf of the Beautification Committee.

In fact, the $6500 used in the presentation was raised entirely by the Wistaria Fete Committee, which is an independent entity not sponsored by the Beautification Committee or City Council, but comprised of volunteers from throughout the community.

In preparation for and celebration of the 100th birthday of the Wistaria Vine, hundreds of volunteers spent thousands of hours to ensure the success of this event.

To have the Beautification Committee step forward to take credit for the financial success and generosity of the Wistaria Fete Committee is not only a lie but a serious invalidation of all the volunteers who worked very hard for five years to put on this most successful event.

To clear the air

Lorayne Russman and the Sierra Madre Beatification Committee, the Sierra Madre City Council and administration owe the hundreds of volunteers of the Wistaria Fete Committee an apology and a clarification of facts for the community. The Beautification Committee had nothing to do with the raising of the $6500 or the decision about disbursement as was implied at the Tuesday, Oct. 25 council meeting.

The Wistaria Fete Committee members carefully considered community priorities which had been researched and discussed. Distribution of all funds has not been made. A press release is planned when that process is completed.

The Wistaria Fete Committee was formed through the visionary leadership of Jan Maddox to plan, coordinate and finance the Centennial Celebration of the Wistaria Vine. Over five years, the grassroots volunteer group worked to make the Centennial celebration a

Arboretum Walks

By Peggy Stewart

Fall is the time of harvest and gathering of crops, but here in Southern California it also marks the time to plant for a new season. A walk about The Arboretum will reveal several new planting projects underway.

North from the entrance Rotunda, the borders of the walkway have been planted with many winter and spring blooming annuals--stocks, columbine, coreopsis. Bright and colorful chrysanthemums are already full of flowers.

Continuing on, we visited the Garden for All Seasons where volunteer gardeners have built lovely, mostly peacock-proof beds of perennial and annual vegetables and flowers. The "broom corn" stands tall and is the corn that is harvested and fashioned into brooms.

The school children in the Roots and Shoots Garden harvested their pumpkins in time for Halloween. Now they are planting lettuces and parsley and peas to grow during the cooler months of winter.

For our own winter vegetables, maybe some good containers of salad greens would look nice on the patio. We are looking forward to "Potting the Potager" with Mayita Dinos on Nov. 9. She will demonstrate how to grow plant edibles, vegetables and flowers, in a pot. We will be sure to call the Foundation office (818) 447-8207 to make reservations for this 10:30 a.m. Wednesday morning program.

Out and About

By Dick Rogers

I guess you could say this piece is dedicated to mothers. Until recently, I've never really had the chance to experience what mothers go through on a daily basis. The trouble with one's own experience is that we're too headstrong and into our own thing to appreciate our mothers and, often, not until it's too late.

Now that I've seen that life is what it appears to be...negotiating one day to the next...I have the opportunity to examine things with a less frantic frame of mind. I see things now in microcosm; I pay attention to details. Two of these many details are Casey and Karli, my nieces. Their mother is my sister-in-law, Candi...and she is the classic mother.

Classic mother? Whatever do you mean? Well, leading the list is patience that deserves a monument. Whether this is an innate quality or something that evolves out of one's connection to their children eludes me. But Candi, and most mothers I'm sure, seem to have this ability to withstand withering fire from their kids. Frankly, I'd crumble under it.

Casey just had a bout with chicken pox, something that makes the child less than comfortable. When the child is not comfy, mom is part of the parade. Not only does she have to contend with the all-night applications of lotions, she must juggle her work schedule to care for the child (face it...both young parents have to work in today's world unless you are among the gifted...and I don't mean that in a cerebral sense). Of course, what are the chances that Karli will come down with it shortly? You've heard the expression, "I don't have time to get sick!" That's a truism in life. Mothers frankly don't have time for such nonsense.

Yeah...time. I don't remember the last time that Candi has been on a vacation. In the truest sense of what mothering is about, would she enjoy being on vacation without her kids? Maybe. Maybe not.

The bottom line is that I have had a chance now to see first hand, and on a regular basis, a mother going through her daily regimen. It's tough; it's demanding; and it's taken for granted by everyone. I've said it before and I'll repeat it..."When all de woilds a stage, and I feel the coise of age, who soods me panting widdle breast? Me mudder. When I'm bad, who's glad? Me. Who's a cool mudder? Mudder."

One of the idiosyncracies, and there were many, was the fuel system of the Model T. There was what was known as gravity feed, which meant that the fuel supply had to be located higher than the engine. This was accomplished by putting the gas tank under the front seat. The contents of the tank had to be measured at frequent intervals by removing the cushion and sticking a small ruler into the tank. Not the most convenient operation.

There was no gas gauge; this was the method used. Everything worked well unless a steep hill was encountered. Then sometimes it was necessary to turn the car around so the engine would be lower than the tank, and then drive backwards up the hill. This was fine and dandy if you enjoyed driving backwards up a hill and without rearview mirrors. You also prayed that the reverse transmission band would last.

It doesn't seem possible now, but once upon a time few cars were driven in the winter, especially in the rural areas. Roads were bad in summer and worse in winter, and there was no anti-freeze as we know now. Most owners simply drove their car into what had once been a carriage or buggy shed, drained the radiator, put the car up on jacks and waited for spring. Then began a saga unknown in modern times. Many owners spent Sunday mornings leisurely tinkering with the engine. With the help of a portable, smokey kerosene stove to take off some of the bite of the cold, they filed or replaced sparkplugs, cleaned the carburetor, and in the case of the Model T, the transmission bands needed attention or perhaps renewal.

Neighbors strolled down the alleys, visited and offered gratuitous advice. All was done at a slow pace. There was no radio or television so visiting and idle talk was the order of the day, and the smoke of innumerable cigarettes, hand-rolled, joined the smokey fumes of the heater. To a certain degree, all drivers had to be mechanics, and they shared their knowledge.

Perhaps no artifact changed America as did the Model T. It brought about mass transportation, and changes in transportation mean changes in culture, economics and social mores. The Model T was the butt of many crude jokes, but that didn't prevent it from being one of the wonders of the new century, one destined to be filled with new inventions.

Sue Messersmith's 'Patchwork Pleasures' provides pleasures for many

Sue Messersmith of Sierra Madre waited until four years ago to do something she had always wanted to do: start a business of her own. And she called her business "Patchwork Pleasures."

What exactly is "patchwork"? Messersmith explained that she takes piece fabric, cutting it into shapes to piece back into one whole fabric. This whole piece forms a block like a quilt.

"I love fabric. I love the tactile pleasure and the sight of it," Messersmith reported. "Colors and shapes are fascinating. It's like a jigsaw puzzle," she added.

From whom does she inherit this talent? She laughed and said, "I had an uncle who was linens buyer for the top department store in Warren, Ohio."

Messersmith buys remnants, off the bolt or fabrics from outlets in Arcadia, Monrovia, Los Angeles, Montrose. She has a distributor who provides her aprons and tote bags and the distributor markets these items for Messersmith all over the United States.

"It took me almost two years to find the quality of apron and tote bag I wanted to use for my business. I decided to make a business from a hobby, and then it went crazy," she laughed.

At first she had fabric all over the house with orders galore, and then recently she leased a studio which is where she does her sewing and design. It has always been a Sierra Madre-based business, she added.

As a child, Messersmith made aprons and quilts. "It got lost in the shuffle of growing up. Then my children grew up and I had time to ask myself what I wanted to do. Bill, my husband, is very supportive."

Bill is president of Sierra Madre Firefighters Association.

"For awhile I was trying to do it all myself, the designing, purchasing and marketing. There was so much leg work. That's why I now have a distributor. Also, my things are on sale at Little Stuga in Sierra Madre," Messersmith reported. The apron is the basic chef's apron, decorated in a most interesting and delightful way.

She came here in 1968 and has lived in Sierra Madre since. She and Bill have two grandchildren and two are on the way.

Messersmith plans to introduce little girls' jumpers for the holidays. Primarily her orders are phone orders from new or former customers. Those wishing more information should note the ad on this page.

Park House renamed Senior Citizen Center

Although the Park House had stood with that name for years, it was on Feb. 24, 1980, that the structure was renamed the Memorial Park House Senior Citizen Center.

Then-Mayor Gary Adams gave the welcome and introduction and the late Daniel Parker was chairman of the ceremonies. The late Louis Van lersel gave the Pledge of Allegiance and presentation of the colors was by VFW Post 3208. Adams is now a city councilman.

General contractors were Carlyle Griffin and Sons, and Pedersen and (Fred) Wesley were architects.

On Sept. 2, 1982, Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club sponsored the community project of the Memorial Park Pavilion.

Election Coverage on KPCC

National Public Radio (NPR) affiliate KPCC (FM 89.3) will have comprehensive coverage of the election, beginning Monday, Nov. 7, and concluding Wednesday, Nov. 9.

On Monday, Nov. 7, from 5-6:30, AirTalk host Larry Mantle will be joined by L.A. Times political writer Bill Stall and Pasadena City College political science professor Dr. Suzanne Anderson for an overview of the races and the initiatives.

On election night, KPCC's extended coverage begins on AirTalk at 5 p.m. Larry Mantle looks at early returns and election 1994 issues with Dr. Jaime Regalado, director of the Pat Brown Institute of Public Affairs at California State University Los Angeles; Alfred Balitzer, assistant professor of government at Claremont McKenna College; and Bruce Cain, professor of political science at UC Berkeley.

Election coverage continues from 8 p.m. to midnight. National returns will be provided by NPR, state-wide data provided by public broadcasting's California Election Project, and local results covered by KPCC's program and news director, Larry Mantle.

Letters from home

John Henry

A gratifying visit with a former (really former) student started our reminiscing about those days when we taught school in small Midwest communities.

In those days, in the forties, kids were kids and parents were still parents.

And teaching was generally a pleasant and rewarding occupation. (Everything, of course, is relative. My starting salary--the highest of any in a graduating class of 111--was $105 per month for nine months. My "soon-to-be wife" started at $58.50 per month for ten months, teaching grades one, two and three.)

Three years later, I became principal and basketball coach, and experienced my most interesting discipline problem. But it wasn't really a school problem.

When I arrived at school around 7:30 a.m., a handsome John Wayne look-alike introduced himself as a detective for the railroad. A pleasant fellow, he explained that two of our sophomore lads had been "Tom Sawyering" on the rail right-of-way the previous day when they should have been in school. He postulated that they had found a dead skunk, malodorous enough when alive. But several warm spring days since his demise had not improved his flavor. This detective had proof that they had affixed a piece of baling wire to the corpse, then assumed that this offered a means of propulsion to heave the beast at a slow passenger train.

The detective laughingly stated that apparently the only train window that ever opened, was open. An elderly lady, inhaling some fresh spring air, suddenly had a dead skunk in her lap.

Remember, this was a time before folks started getting huge settlements for stubbing their toes on a rug. She did not blame the railroad.

"Now," he said, "I don't intend to press charge--just to scare h--- out of them, with your permission."

He was successful, with the help of cooperative parents. The youngsters, never in trouble previously, were downright angelic the rest of the term.

To the best of my knowledge, no one except the aforementioned ever heard of the problem--to this day. Except for noticing the truancy, school records are silent.

Police Blotter

Sierra Madre Police answered 78 calls during the week of Oct. 24 to 30. There were no major crimes on Oct. 24, 26 and 30. Calls during the rest of the week are as follows:

Oct. 25: In a traffic accident at Sunnyside and Sierra Madre Blvd., a southbound party on Sunnyside turned eastbound on Sierra Madre Blvd. and struck a car parked on the boulevard. That car rolled forward and struck the back end of the car parked in front of it. There was major damage to two of the cars and minor damage to one auto.

Oct. 27: There was a theft of $225 from a coin machine in the 300 block of W. Sierra Madre Blvd.

A Motorola cellular phone and cash and credit cards totaling $180 were taken from an unlocked parked car in the 100 block of S. Mountain Trail.

Oct. 28: A golf ball was thrown from a moving auto at a parked auto causing minor damage. Location was the 100 block of Sierra Madre Blvd.

Someone still attempting to solicit money for a tow truck was reported in the 100 block of E. Bonita. A separate story appears on this person.

Oct. 29: A window was shot out of a parked car at Hermosa and Sierra Madre Blvd.

PRESCHOOL STORY HOURS AT THE LIBRARY

It is never too early to start your child with library visits. Many studies have shown that when children are exposed to books early in life, they show a greater interest in learning to read. No child is too old or too young to be read to. When I am at home reading to my 7-year-old daughter, my older children will come and cuddle up on the couch with us to hear the story. If my little one falls asleep before the book is finished, the other girls will ask if they can borrow the book to see how it ended. A very pleasant sight is to watch my children read to each other.

On Monday mornings at 10 and Wednesday evenings at 7, the Sierra Madre Library offers a Preschool Story Hour. Children from birth to elementary school come to the library to listen to books, flannelboard stories, puppets, and sing songs. Usually a craft is offered after the first half hour. Parents and children alike participate at this time and check out books at the end of the hour. My favorite stories told to me by parents is how their children will go home, gather their stuffed animals around them and "play librarian" by reading to those toys.

It is very difficult of working parents to find the time (and energy) to sit down and ready a story to their child. The library offers books on tape with the actual book so that the child can look at the pictures during the story. If you have older children, perhaps they would be willing to sit down and read to the younger ones.

If you are interested in attending our Preschool Story Hours, please feel free to come to either one of our sessions. You do not need a reservation. If you have any questions, please give me a call at (818) 355-7186.

Nominations open for 'Citizen'

Nominations for "Citizen of the Year" of Sierra Madre are now open and forms may be picked up later this week at City Hall, the Chamber of Commerce, The Bottle Shop or Sierra Madre News.

Residents are reminded that this is not a popularity contest. The person who is nominated for this honor should be someone who has done special volunteerism for the town, both this year and in years past.

The announcement of the winner will be made by the Chamber during the first week of December, according to Bill Sullivan, chairman of the fete.

The installation dinner is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 12, at the retreat house at Mater Dolorosa. The dinner will honor the Citizen and the new officers of the Chamber of Commerce.

Champagne opening

The Folk Tree at 217 S. Fair Oaks Ave., Pasadena, has scheduled the 8th annual International Nativities Exhibit from Nov. 19 to Jan. 1.

Sierra Madre's winery enjoyed excellent reputation

The wine made at John Jacob Hart's winery was said to have been "of the finest quality."

Hart had studied the European method and modeled production of his wine after the study.

Grapes were crushed and the stems discarded, allowing the juice to run into fermenting vats.

Because the process was entirely hand-done, green and uniform grapes were picked out and the washers maneuvered so as not to crush the seeds. All of this made the wine smooth and liquid without any of the harsh taste found in many wines made by machinery.

Grapes grown in this vicinity ran high in the percentage of grape sugar, some as high as 20 percent.

Hart took great pride in the quality and purity of his wines.

The pioneers of the community were also proud of the prestige the wine-making brought to the community.

Dr. Norman Bridge personally wrote Hart a letter complimenting him on his wine--using the words "excellent" and "pure product."

Years later, there was a movement among Sierra Madre newcomers to close the winery. However, the overwhelming voice of the community thwarted the quest of the newcomers and the winery thrived for several more years.

That winery was located in Memorial Park in the beginning of this century.

Someone said to me recently, "When my old VW broke down, a mechanic friend said it needed a coil. I couldn't afford a new coil so he used one from another VW and now the engine misses."

It's possible that this problem is with the fuel injection but a mistake may have been made when your mechanic friend selected the coil. You probably have an electronic ignition system. Perhaps the coil used is from an auto with a conventional ignition system. If the engine doesn't run well after you make sure you have the correct coil, bring it in for a diagnostic equipment checkup and we'll see if we can find the solution to your problems.

Friends help Chilton with film

Verna Chilton of Sierra Madre has the lead in a movie entitled "Kidnapped," and she asked some of her Sierra Madre friends if they would like to be extras in the film.

According to Nancy Patterson, the scene was to take place during the night with a disturbance at the home. Neighbors gather in concern for the owner, played by Chilton. The 30-second scene took two hours or so to film. Wardrobe for the extras were their night clothes, as can be seen in the photo.

Those who gathered for the extra scene were Bill and Nancy Patterson, Suzanne Williams, Mary Roseen, Celeste McCreary, Betty Archer, Ruth King, and in the foreground, Peggy Chilton, Bill Chilton's sister.

The movie stars Verna Chilton and Will Rosenthal, son of Julie Rosenthal of Sierra Madre, who plays Verna's grandson. The movie is directed and written by Richard Gale and assistant director is Joaquin Agamba.

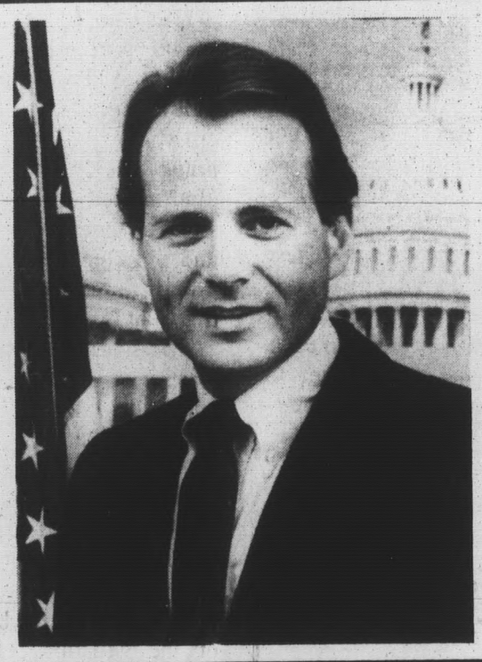

EXTRAS – Sierra Madreans who recently played extras in "Kidnapped," a film starring Verna Chilton and Will Rosenthal of Sierra Madre, are Bill and Nancy Patterson, Suzanne Williams, Mary Roseen, Celeste McCreary, Betty Archer, Ruth King, and, kneeling, Peggy Chilton, Verna Chilton's sister-in-law.

BUILDING PRINCIPALS -- Among those who had much to say in making the Senior Citizen Center retrofitting become a reality were Bob Miars, Councilman Lee Cline, Michelle Keith who is recreation supervisor; City Administrator Sean Joyce, Architect Don Watts, Interim City Engineer Jim Mitsch and Bernard Ashkar.

Senior Center reopened

The "Park House" or "Senior Citizen Center," reopened Monday after finalization of earthquake retrofitting. It is a Sierra Madre original.

A brief program, headlined by City Administrator Sean Joyce, outlined the history of the retrofitting which has lasted 10 months. He thanked the Sierra Madre Senior Citizen Club members for their "extreme patience" and pointed to the Commission on Aging, Inc. as a great help as well as Michelle Keith, supervisor of recreation, following in the footsteps of Donna Harriman who left that job to move into a like job in Half Moon Bay. Joyce also thanked Cedar Construction members Bob Miars and Bernard Ashkar.

Joyce particularly thanked Steve Pock, building official, and Don Watts, architect, for their roles in making sure that the Senior Citizen Center would be earthquake proof.

Previously a winery, the building has gone through metamorphoses until now, it is an earthquake proof center for seniors and all other citizens of Sierra Madre and other Foothill towns.

The structure and Memorial Park date back to 1884, when Professor John Jacob Hart settled in Sierra Madre with his wife and three sons. Like many others, Hart came here to seek improvement for his health.

He bought 40 acres of land from a Charles Clement, brother-in-law of Nathaniel Coburn Carter, founder of the city of Sierra Madre. Prof. Hart divided the acreage by putting through Hermosa Avenue and sold 20 acres east of that new street, retaining 20 acres west which extended from Hermosa to Lima Street and south to Orange Grove.

Hart developed the upper portion, where Memorial Park stands today, into a home site, enlarging the adobe house that already stood (and added an upper story), building barns and planting citrus and other fruit trees, some that stand today.

The southern portion was covered with oak and chaparral.

The whole area was called the "Variety Ranch."

One summer, grasshoppers destroyed all the crops but the grapes. Making the best of the situation, Hart studied viticulture and developed a wine called "Monte Vina" which he was able to sell to other parts of the country.

In 1888, Mrs. Vanier bought five acres and moved her family here. She purchased part of the new division and the east/west street called Mariposa was constructed.

Back to Hart, the wine-making supplemented his living of teaching music. After all, that was his profession in Cleveland, Ohio, before he and the family moved West. He taught piano and violin not only in his home but also in Pasadena and Los Angeles.

His wife died in 1894, and his second wife, Else Blumer, subdivided below Mariposa and sold the upper portion for the park. The winery, built of adobe and where the wine was stored, became the Park House.

In 1922, with a successful bond issue of $30,000, the city bought the Memorial Park area. Of that sum, $18,000 was for the park property and $12,000 was for improvement to the park. On January 12, 1923, the Park House was dedicated.

Hart died on May 5, 1932 at the age of 90.

COSTUMES FOR PARTY -- Because the reopening of the Senior Citizen Center was on Halloween, an unidentified ghost, a Filipino Princess, Emelita Bituin, manager of Sanwa Bank, and a bank robber, Simon Graydon, manager of Household Bank, were enjoyed by all guests.

SENIORS ENJOY NEW DIGS -- Among the many senior citizens who came Monday for the reopening of the Senior Citizen Center were (seated) Ruth Alexander, Gertrude Gerke, Joe Delgatto and Edith Annas. Standing are Dr. Ed Wellman, City Administrator Sean Joyce, Eunice Banis and Jeanne Templeton. Joyce is obviously not one of the seniors but he is popular with them.

HELPED TO GET WORK DONE -- Through much of their coordination, Dorothy Hobiack, Bonnie Garner and Rose Fafach saw that the building was completed.

Joint downtown parking survey completed by one-third of merchants

A response rate of 30 percent of the merchants in downtown Sierra Madre responded to the parking survey conducted by the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce, and delivered by Lisa Volpe, traffic parking officer.

Suggestions that were made by 19 percent of the respondents concerning their support of one-hour parking on Sierra Madre Blvd. included asking for more signs for off-street parking, encouraging employees of shops to use rear lot parking spaces, maintaining current enforcement level, emptying trash cans, removing all parking restrictions, changing angle of boulevard parking, doubling fines for business people who are cited, permitting parking in rear lots and restriping Kersting Court.

According to Judy Webb-Martin, who is a member of the Economic Development Council, 11 double signs directing traffic to parking lots had been ordered.

Respondents to the survey were opposed to eliminating two-hour and 20-minute time limits, to increasing 20-minute parking zones, to decreasing 20-minute parking zones, to increasing handicap parking spots, to changing angled parking to parallel parking, to installing parking meters.

One hundred percent of those who responded were opposed to changing Kersting Courts into a no-parking mall.

They were in favor of eliminating two-hour and 20-minute time limits to rear lots to encourage off-street parking and they wanted to encourage off-street parking for all merchants or office workers in the downtown area.

The City Council and the Chamber will meet in a joint study session to discuss findings and perhaps come up with other suggestions.

Police Chief Joe Surgent said he believes that this survey suggests that "a feasible solution can be developed that meets the needs of the overwhelming majority of respondents. Our primary objective appears to be to encourage merchants and shoppers alike to make better use of off-street parking. There are several ancillary issues relating to parking enforcement and time limits which can also be addressed to the satisfaction of a significant number of respondents."

With 'Sights of the Season,' the Chamber gets ready for the holidays

The Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce has shifted into high gear with its planning for the downtown Sierra Madre holiday season decorations and activities. As in previous years, the centerpiece will be Kersting Court.

This year's exciting theme will be "Sights of the Season" and will consist of festive symbols of the holiday season including Santa, Christmas trees, a creche, special lights, a menorah and other decorations. The chamber has not limited itself to the Court, so look for the holiday spirit to spread through the downtown area. The activities and decorations, while coordinated by the chamber, will be a community effort and will include the efforts of the various Sierra Madre civic organizations, churches, schools, Fire Department and citizens.

The spirit of the season will be captured by the spirit of Sierra Madre.

The "Sights of the Season" will begin on Dec. 2, with the lighting of the Court and a visit by Santa. This will also signal the opening of the holiday shopping season for Sierra Madre. Look to future issues of the Sierra Madre News for dates and times of specific events.

Councilman Adams

insurance plan and establishes health services system, creating an advisory policy board and consumer council with an elected health commissioner. Adams explained that this is the "same kind that Canada now has." He also said there may be a savings to state or local governments initially.

By now, everyone should be aware of No. 187, an initiative statute which deals only with providing services to illegal aliens such as health and education, not about deportation, according to Adams. It would make illegal aliens ineligible for public social services, health services, and public school education. Annual savings would be roughly $200 million to state and local governments. Administrative costs would rise to tens of millions of dollars. The statute would also require state and local agencies to report persons who are suspected of being illegal aliens and makes it a felony to manufacture, distribute, sell or use false citizenship or residence documents.

Number 188 is the (literally) smoking initiative statute, written allegedly by tobacco companies, that repeals and preempts local smoking and tobacco regulations. It repeals and replaces existing statewide smoking and tobacco regulations, banning public smoking with significant exceptions, regulating location of tobacco vending machines and billboards.

Adams is careful not to suggest to his audience how to vote on these measures.

Woman's Club 20th annual Prayer Breakfast Nov. 16

By Phyllis Chapman

For the twentieth year, the Sierra Madre Woman's Club invites the community to attend their Annual Interdenominational Prayer Breakfast on Wednesday, Nov. 16, at "Essick House," their clubhouse, at 550 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. The breakfast begins promptly at 8 a.m., lasts just one hour until 9 a.m., with the hope that working people will also be able to attend.

This all-faith event is held by the club as part of their community service program and as a time of fellowship as the holiday season approaches. Club members will serve a full sit-down breakfast and, as always, there is no charge. Reservations are needed, however. Anyone wishing to attend is asked to please call Prayer Breakfast Chair Martha Van De Verg, 355-9862, to make a reservation.

Van De Verg has sent invitations to members of the local clergy and has asked those who plan to attend to add to the occasion by giving a brief message of praise and thanksgiving.

Club president Dollie Morant will greet members and guests. Singing will be led by Phyllis Harris and piano accompaniment will be provided by Eunice Banis and Alden Webster.

Jim Mitsch enjoys newly-adopted town

Jim Mitsch, who came on August 20 as interim director of public works/city engineer, said recently, "I love it here. What I like about this town is the amount of volunteerism. It's amazing. We have a Volunteer Fire Department, no traffic signals and our own mountain. Maybe that's hokey but it's true."

He shook his head and grinned, "This city is lean and mean and the citizens like it that way. The interest in the City Council and every detail of government is amazing. The interest is amazing. The desire for information is amazing. It's an unbelievable place."

Mitsch, who retired in July from the position of city manager of Hawthorne, a town of 73,000, noted that most engineers and managers put out a contract to bid. "Here there is a different approach. Here we talk with the citizens to install various things around town (such as the benches on order) and they bring their own tools."

Mitsch said the challenges are different here than in Hawthorne. "I respect the challenges facing this community. People who work for the city of Sierra Made are very dedicated. The community needs that. The people here won't accept second-hand work. The reason for city hall success is that homework is being done. They listen to the community."

Mitsch was born in Evanston, Ill., and came with his parents to California when he was 2 years old. He grew up in Los Angeles, attending parochial schools and graduated from Loyola University in 1961 as a civil engineer.

He built radar sites for the Federal Aviation Agency for three years, then spent two years as a design engineer in Newport Beach. Mitsch was in Hawthorne for 28 years, serving chronologically as assistant engineer, city manager, public works director and then again as city manager. Hawthorne has a $61 million budget which includes the CRA budget, he explained.

Jim Mitsch

He and his wife, Martha, have five children. One child died in infancy. They have twin sons, one an engineer in recycling and one a plumber. Another son is a professional volunteer. Their two daughters work for the same attorney, one as a legal secretary and one as a legal assistant.

Martha is a Registered Nurse and does special renal nursing at Cedars Sinai.

Jim Mitsch used to run marathons, and now runs and walks about 15 miles a week. He's a great fan of the major sports.

Next time you're at City Hall, stop in and say "Hello."

Garden Club program: Orchids, Cymbidium growing

By Phyllis Chapman

The growing and care of orchids and cymbidiums will be the subject of a slide presentation by noted authority Elsie Hetherington at the Sierra Madre Garden Club's dinner meeting on Monday, Nov. 14, 6:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in the recently completed and reopened Senior Center in Memorial Park. Since last spring the Center has been closed for retrofitting.

As always, the group welcomes the public to attend but for those who plan to come for dinner, reservations are needed. Please call Reservation Chair Mary Morris, 355-0772. Cost of dinner is $6.50. For those coming just for the program, it is suggested that they arrive by 7:15 pm.

You might say Hetherington became an orchid authority by marriage. A commercial artist, she met and married Ernest Hetherington. Well known in the orchid field, he became manager of Stewart Orchids in San Gabriel, building the company as a leading supplier of orchids in the Southland. Elsie attended all meetings with him, heard many lectures and in the mid-1970s joined the firm. She did their art work, arranged tours, put in their displays at shows and malls and for the past 15 years has done the Stewart display at the Pasadena Showcase Homes.

Scots needed to form rifle company

The 42 Black Watch Highland Society, Inc., is searching for members within the San Gabriel Valley.

Anyone who is musically talented or has a desire to learn drums or bagpipes, or to be a part of a rifle military company, should enroll.

Anyone who is 18 years or older and has some Scottish heritage should go to Sierra Vista High School at Grand and Puente Ave. in Covina any Thursday evening at 7:15 p.m.

The group is forming a new pipe band and rifle company.

TIPS FROM MARCO

MARCO
Chin-length hair with a side part is very effective in softening a rectangular face. You can have the primary direction of your hair be either forward or backward but don't think in terms of solid lines. Think spikey, layered, fringey. This face is a little longer than the square so you want it widened at the sides.

Fruitcakes... And the women (and men) who hate them!

By Barry Schwam

This article on fruitcakes may be a little bit early, since Christmas is still two months away. But I was in Sears a couple of weeks ago, and they had their whole Christmas department already in operation.

The fruitcake has been a traditional gift for Christmas for hundreds of years. But the term "cake" may be a bit misleading, since one often thinks of a cake as something edible. Fruitcakes, on the other hand, are basically indigestible, in my opinion. Eating something that has been prepared to last 50 years or more doesn't sound appealing to me.

Russel Baker, a writer, claims that his grandmother had a fruitcake back in 1880, and that she eventually passed it on to a niece in 1933. In 1880, this fruitcake was already 86 years old! It had been baked in 1794 by a great-grandfather to give as a Christmas present to George Washington. But supposedly Washington returned it, saying that gifts should not be accepted by someone in the office of President. I'm wondering if the real reason was because it was a fruitcake.

There have been fruitcakes documented as old as 300 years. As a side note, however, no fruitcake has even come close to the cake that was found sealed and "vacuum packed" in the grave of someone called Pepionka, back in ancient Egypt in 2200 B.C. It was not a fruitcake, but more like a honey cake, made with sesame and possibly milk. So when Pepionka died, he had had his cake, but couldn't eat it too....Perhaps this is how that silly saying got started?

In Great Britain, during the 17th century, fruitcakes were revered by the wealthy aristocrats, who would use dark fruitcakes as wedding cakes. But only for the grandest of weddings! Now, according to the U.S. Post Office, who conducted a survey on Christmas gifts sent through the mail, 48% of the people interviewed said they would dislike getting a fruitcake as a gift. As far as those planning to give fruitcakes as gifts--they were about 8%.

In 1992, MasterCard conducted a survey on fruitcakes, and asked the question, "What do you think the appropriate use of a fruitcake should be?" Of those asked, 38% said, "A gift for someone else." Other answers were, in order of popularity, "Birdfeed" (17%), "A good doorstop" (13%), and "Landfill" (4%).

In summation, I would like to leave you with a very challenging bit of fruitcake trivia. Do any of you know what rock star, popular in the '70s, once had a birthday cake delivered to him, made out of stacks of fruitcakes, shaped like drums, presented by the Premier Drum Company during his band's first American tour? The answer in a couple of weeks or so. Bye for now!

Changes in Transportation Program implemented

By Tara Schultz, administrative aide

On Nov. 1, Sierra Madre implemented several changes to its transportation program aimed at improving current service. November will be a transitional period to allow Sierra Madre residents to become acquainted with the new service hours, the use of vouchers, transportation providers, and new phone numbers.

Beginning Nov. 1, Sierra Madre operator Herb's Taxi became the city's primary transportation provider. Herb's Taxi will be assisted by Foothill Area Community Services (FACS) to transport wheelchair-bound patrons. Herb's Taxi will be providing the same high quality door-to-door service for all Sierra Madre residents as in the past.

In an attempt to improve current services and further accommodate residents, Herb's service area has been extended to a two-mile radius outside the Sierra Madre boundaries and to Arcadia medical offices. FACS will provide similar medical and handicapped accessible transportation service for disabled and wheelchair-bound residents.

Requests for service can be made by contacting Herb's Taxi at 355-3873. Patrons requiring handicapped accessible or wheelchair service may contact Herb's Taxi and the request will be forwarded to FACS, or patrons may call FACS directly at 794-0992. The maximum response time is approximately 45 minutes.

Both service providers will operate Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Service is not available Sundays or holidays. Saturday rides must be reserved by noon of the preceding Friday.

The city of Sierra Madre will be instituting a voucher system for these two services as well. Each voucher is worth 50 cents and will be sold in a book of 30 for $15 or in groups up to 30. Patrons may purchase as many as two books a month. For everyone's convenience vouchers will be sold at City Hall, the Recreation Center, the Senior Center, and the Library.

Vouchers may also be purchased by mail at the following address: Sierra Madre City Hall, Attn: Vouchers, 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre, CA 91024.

Please allow five to seven days for vouchers requested by mail.

One-way voucher rates are as follows:

Seniors	.50=1 voucher	$1=2 vouchers
Children	.50=1 voucher	$1=2 vouchers
Handicapped	.50=1 voucher	$1=2 vouchers
Other	$1 =2 vouchers	$2=4 vouchers

Effective Dec. 1, 1994, all riders not possessing vouchers will be responsible for paying full taxi meter fare.

If you have any questions regarding the new transportation program please feel free to contact City Hall at 355-7135.

No two cymbals are tuned alike

Unlike many other instruments which can be tuned, no two cymbals sound exactly alike. The cymbal--around since at least 2500 BC--was first used by an orchestra in an opera in 1680 in Hamburg, Germany.

REALTORS THANK COMMUNITY -- Barbara Miralles and Suzanne Wheeler, Webb-Martin Realtors, along with others at the firm thank the homeowners, house sitters, visitors, ghosts and goblins for making the Second Annual Open House Extravaganza on Oct. 30 so successful. Fourteen Sierra Madre homes were open for viewing and everyone thought it was a very successful weekend.

Podliska 'puts best foot forward'

Professionalism and dedication to client service apparently are boundless at Dorn Realty, as recently demonstrated by sales agent Moira Podliska.

While showing a residence to a prospective buyer Podliska was striving to put her best foot forward when she made a misstep--physically--which resulted in ankle, leg and wrist injuries. However, she put off medical treatment until after she had completed the sale, and its supporting paperwork.

Determined not to fall down on the job in any other manner, Podliska went on to oversee all details of completing the sale and closing escrow while on crutches, company owner Gary Dorn pointed out. "Moira is now off the crutches, back on her feet, pursuing the highest levels of client service," Dorn added.

Podliska, who joined the Dorn Realty sales team in 1993, is a lifelong resident of the Arcadia/Pasadena area and brings to her clients an in-depth knowledge of the community. She has been active for more than two decades in local organizations, including the Arcadia Assistance League, the Arcadia and Pasadena Tournament of Roses Associations, the Children's Bureau of Southern California, and the First Nighters, a support group for the California Music Theatre.

Pretam Fuqua experiences 200% increase and breaks Century 21 record

With more than one production honor, Pretam Fuqua has again placed as the top sales associate in the firm for the first six months of the year. She was honored by Century 21 Village's manager Mike Lepore for not only increasing her production 200% over business in 1993, but for also being the first sales associate in the three Century 21 office companies to earn the prestigious Centurion Award.

"Pretam continues to amaze me," Lepore says. "Last year she was honored as the number one sales associate for the office, now she has received the Centurion Award sooner than any of the 90 agents in the history of the three office companies--Century 21 Village, Century 21 Oak in Temple City, and Century 21 Ludecke in Arcadia--even though she started her career only four years ago."

As a Centurion Award winner, Fuqua is ranked among the top 2% of all Century 21 sales associates nationwide. Her professional attitude and emphasis on quality service has made her one of the top sales associates within the Region.

With over 10 escrows closed in July (and with several other properties opened), she is on track for her goal. In addition to her assistance and managerial support, she provides her clients with a large inventory of properties and concentrates on following through on the deals.

"I really owe a lot to Mike, who is a great manager," Fuqua says. "He supports my commitment to my clients, my persistence and my goals."

Working with a national referral program, Fuqua is able to provide information to and from the area. As a San Gabriel Valley resident, she is familiar with the area and has established a large referral base with buyers and sellers.

Noted as an "Outstanding Professional" by Century 21 Region V, Inc.'s Chief Operating Officer Larry Ross, Fuqua can be reached at Century 21 Village Realty, located at 38 W. Sierra Madre, telephone (818) 355-1451, and at her home, (818) 791-1403.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
NEGATIVE DECLARATION

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre will conduct a public hearing on Tuesday, November 22, 1994 at 6:30 p.m. in the City Council Chambers of City Hall, 232 W. Sierra Madre Boulevard, to receive public comment concerning the proposed amendments to the R-1 standards. These amendments concern setbacks, variances, floor area ratios, lot coverage, and other technical changes to the code.

A negative declaration has been prepared pursuant to Section 15070 of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) Guidelines. A copy of the initial study, environmental analysis and negative declaration is available at City Hall and at Sierra Madre Library beginning Thursday, November 3, 1994. The public may provide written comment regarding the document for a 21-day period, until November 22, 1994.

Interested persons are invited to attend the meeting of the City Council and make comment regarding this item.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Planning Commission of the City of Sierra Madre will conduct a public hearing on Thursday, November 17, 1994 at 7:30 p.m. in the City Council Chambers of City Hall, 232 West Sierra Madre Boulevard, to receive public comment concerning a proposed ordinance to prohibit tax-exempt organizations from locating in the commercial zone. The City Council identified that the commercial area of Sierra Madre constitutes only two percent of the land area and determined that limitations on the use of this land primarily for commercial purposes and other purposes for which the City receives tax benefits is necessary for a well balanced mix of land uses and a viable commercial district.

Interested persons are invited to attend this meeting and make comment to the Planning Commission regarding this item.

On Stage

By Mary Cogswell Baum

One of the many intriguing things about cats is the air they have of living in a private world, pleased but basically unaffected by attentions from outside, with extremely individualized relations with human beings. Some seem truly attached, many seem gracious but aloof, and some cannot bear to be interrupted in their own affairs. Erica Wilson, in her book The Cats of Wildcat Hill, is, like most aficionados, a cat watcher, and found the intricate relationships among her 20 or so cats endlessly fascinating.

The dancers and singers of Andrew Lloyd Webber's popular Cats (a traveling company that is now appearing, briefly, at the Schubert Theater in Century City) offer the most intimate view of cat society that the average person is likely to achieve. It is extremely imaginative, of course, but the dancers have done their homework, mainly cat watching, and their body language is as accurate as the human frame can manage, hampered as it is by being tail-less. They are tremendously assisted by unsentimental lyrics from the pen of noted poet T.S. Eliot, whose Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats appears practically in its entirety, with a few other judicious additions from Eliot works by director Trevor Nunn. Eliot's sure sketches of such cats as Rum Tum Tugger, who is "always on the wrong side of any door"; of the Gumby Cat, Jennyanydots, who "sits and sits upon the sill, or any space that's smooth and flat"; of Mungojerry and Rumpleteaser, who steal socks and commit all kinds of mayhem with irresistible charm, and many others, are knowingly portrayed. Other characters, only names in the Eliot poems, are fleshed out by dancers: Munkostrap, the elegant Alpha cat, responsibly in charge; Bombalerina, the pretty white kitten soloist; Demeter, the arrogant beauty; and feeble Grisabella, ragged of coat and living on memories. Grisabella is the only one who seems a little off key, since cats are the essential realists, coping with problems as they arise. Eliot refuses to allow them deep thought, except for meditation on the subject of their own inscrutable, private and singular Names. Who knows?

Grisabella's song, "Memories," is the only one transferable from the score into popular music and--typically Webber--was not originally written for Cats but was transferred from a less popular work.

Cats is a non-classifiable theater piece; musical, yes, but nearly plotless. (Who will get to move on to the next of the rejuvenating nine lives? Guess!) What has kept it on Broadway for 13 years is its accurate and amusing observation (Eliot's) of certain aspects of a remarkable species, the fanciful and poetic (Eliot's) interpretations of the observable behavior, the marvelous choreography (Gillian Lynne's) which sends 24 beautiful bodies flying so acrobatically around the stage, the sometimes eerie, sometimes raucous Webber music and the creative imagination of Trevor Nunn.

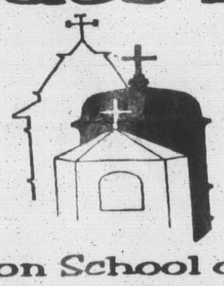

It is a show to please all ages, especially cat lovers, with the slight exception of "The Jellicle Ball" which, while expert, is overly long. ("Oh, help! Here comes another batch of them.") Young children should be familiar with the Eliot poems if possible. The words are important and it's easy to be distracted.

Cats manages to avoid Webber's later compulsive involvement with stage effects. (The set is one awesomely imagined giant junkyard.) It is certainly a celebration of the skills of performers who can sing, dance and act its colorful roles, and certainly one of a kind.

Alverno student wins

Heather Shaw, a student at Alverno High School, has won a place in the Herbert Ryman Living Master program at USC with a still life drawing and essay. The Living Master Program is designed to honor the memory of a great Disney artist, Herbert D. Ryman. Through a series of Master Classes created to train promising young artists in classical drawing and painting, the tradition of Ryman's work will be continued.

Religion & Community

Gloria Dei Lutheran

During the more than two decades since the infamous Roe vs. Wade decision by the U.S. Supreme Court, millions of unborn children have been killed in the name of choice or, more properly, expediency. Today, the potentially most dangerous place in the world for a child is not in the neighborhood streets but, sadly, in its mother's womb.

Truly, this is a tragic commentary on the sinfulness of man's nature. Yet, just a few weeks ago, President Bill Clinton, talking with editors and reporters from liberal religious publications, said that he had read the citations from Scripture that religious conservatives had cited in their opposition to abortion. The President said he found these passages "ambiguous."

Jeremiah 1:5 says: Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, before you were born I set you apart. And, in Psalm 139:13, 16: For you created my inmost being, you knit me together in my mother's womb...your eyes saw my unformed body. All the days ordained for me were written in your book before one of them came to be. And finally, in Deuteronomy 5:17: Thou shalt not kill.

Despite the President's opinion, there is nothing "ambiguous" about God's Word. Only our unwillingness to turn our lives over to our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ could lead us to the current secular revisionism of Holy Scripture that attempts to justify our sinful nature by misinterpreting and even rewriting the inspired Word of God.

We invite you to join us as the Good News of the full gospel of Jesus Christ is preached and taught each Sunday at 11 a.m. worship service. Adult Bible Study is held every Thursday morning at 10:30 a.m. Gloria Dei Lutheran Church is located at 186 W. Highland Ave. in Sierra Madre.

Congregational

By Richard J. Anderson, Pastor

Sierra Madre Congregational Church meets Saturdays at 6:30 p.m. and Sundays at 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m.

This week Pastor Anderson will be preaching from Acts, Chapter 3--"A Healing Wins a Hearing." Peter's first sermon is the buzzing talk of Jerusalem. What just a few days ago had been numbered in the hundreds of serious followers has now blossomed into thousands. The Way of Jesus Christ is gaining momentum. This is cause for alarm within the circles of Jewish leadership in Jerusalem.

The catalyst which produced the first opposition was the healing of the lame beggar outside one of the gates of the temple. The immediate impact of this remarkable healing was the opportunity for Peter to preach his second sermon. As he preaches, Peter credits the name of Jesus as the power behind this miracle and calls the people of Jerusalem to repentance and faith in Jesus as The Christ.

Faith Lutheran

By Pastor Dann J. Ettner

There are many wonderful stories of the love and mercy of Jesus found in the Gospels. One especially beautiful story is found in Mark 10:46-52. Here we have Jesus and His disciples going through the city of Jericho on their way to celebrate the Passover in Jerusalem. As they leave the city they go through its gates and past all those who sit at the gate and beg for their daily bread. I would imagine that this group of beggars would have been large that day as they take advantage of the fact that many religious travelers were going to Jerusalem, which was only 15 miles away. Among this crowd is a blind man, Bartimaeus by name. Bartimaeus is blind and the only way he can live day to day is to depend on the mercy of others. This day may have begun like so many others. He would call out for help and some kind traveler would throw a small coin or two into his cup.

Bartimaeus' actions change some as he hears that Jesus is passing by. Obviously he had heard of Jesus before. He may have been dreaming of the day he might actually be able to talk to Jesus. That day had come. And so Bartimaeus begins to cry out, "Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!" Jesus does not hear him and so Bartimaeus begins to cry out louder and louder. Suddenly others are noticing him--so much so that they are asking him to stop calling out. "Who are you that you should disturb the great teacher Jesus?" they may have said. Bartimaeus does not listen to them. Instead, he cries out louder and louder until Jesus stops and calls for him to come over.

Bartimaeus is so excited that he leaves behind his cloak. Note that this action for a blind man is probably a bold thing to do; I would imagine that Bartimaeus held on to any possession he had for fear that he would lose it or someone else might take it. Today is different. He throws his cloak aside and runs to Jesus.

"What do you want from me?" Jesus asks. This may seem to be a strange question. Yet how many in this same position might ask that Jesus give him enough to eat his next meal or maybe even for the next day or two, or how about a nice warm place to stay the night.

Bartimaeus, however, understands what he really needs. He needs his sight and he has no doubt that Jesus can give it to him. "Rabbi, I want to see," he says without hesitation. "Go," Jesus says, "your faith has healed you."

Everyone who has rejected the Gospel of salvation has clutched tight the things of this world and declined to ask Jesus for the eternal life He has to offer. Come join us and find out more about this eternal life. We are located at Sierra Madre Blvd. and Hastings Ranch Drive. Our worship service is at 10:30 a.m. every Sunday.

Sierra Madre United Methodist

By Pastor Rich LaShure

This Sunday is Consecration Sunday in our church, capping a month-long emphasis on Christian stewardship. Ray Van Alstine will be our guest speaker. Ray is a leading United Methodist layman, a member of the Lakewood United Methodist Church and a believer in prosperity theology: that God showers abundant, incredible blessings upon those who take him at his word and devote a tithe or 10 percent of their income to God's work.

Members and friends of the church will be invited to declare their estimates of giving to building the kingdom of God in 1995 as a personal act of worship.

Following morning worship we will join in a Celebration Luncheon in Hartzell Hall, a catered meal where everyone will be a guest of the church. Together we'll await the report of the financial secretary Howard Gilliam on the results of Consecration Sunday. The chairman of the Consecration Sunday stewardship team is Sierra Madre resident Tom Janzen.

Worship with us this Sunday--find God, find yourself, and find a friend!

Good Shepherd

Ballot issues for the November elections will be the timely topic at the Adult Forum topic at Church of the Good Shepherd on Sunday, Nov. 6, at 9 a.m. Craig Lucas, Pasadena attorney and member of the Good Shepherd congregation, will lead the discussion.

Worship services will be at 8 a.m. in the Hildebrand Chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary, with senior pastor Dr. James W. Dallas preaching.

The Rev. James K. Thomann, assistant pastor, will continue the study of the Gospel of John in the "Scripture in Focus" class.

Children may take part in the "Discovery Hour" at 9 a.m., and Church School at 10 a.m. Child care is available all three hours.

Good Shepherd's youth meet at 10 a.m. and at 6:30 p.m. Sundays for study, worship and group activities.

The Chinese congregation worships in Hildebrand Chapel at 11:15 a.m., with the Rev. Matthew Chong officiating at the Mandarin Chinese service.

Church of the Good Shepherd is at 400 W. Duarte Road, Arcadia. Phone the church office at (818) 447-2181 weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. for information.

St. Rita's

Apples for Students

...and for the teachers, too! Vons Supermarkets are again offering Apple computers for schools. By saving your Vons receipts from now until Jan. 11, you can help St. Rita School obtain new Apple Computers. In the past, you have helped earn five computers. Please help again. Drop receipts in the school office or in the collection basket in church.

St. Rita Book Fair

Please note that the St. Rita's Book Fair will be starting this Thursday, Nov. 3, and will continue through Nov. 9. The Fair will be open after the 10 a.m. Mass on Nov. 6 for all the families and parishioners who wish to come and look at the wonderful selection of books and Christmas gift ideas. There will be some great new selections of holiday books and, of course, the traditional favorites. Please come in and browse and through your purchases help St. Rita School.

Special Devotion

There will be a holy hour with exposition of the Blessed Sacrament and Benediction on Friday, Nov. 4, after the 8 a.m. Mass--8:30 to 9:30.

Annual Parish Thanksgiving Food Drive

The Religious Education Program (CCD) will conduct their annual food drive on Saturday, Nov. 19, and Sunday, Nov. 20, after all the Masses. Please bring your donations of food for the hungry and the homeless and then join them for coffee and donuts.

Play Day for 6th, 7th, and 8th Graders

Alverno High School will be sponsoring its 11th annual Play Day on Nov. 5 from 8 a.m. to noon on the school campus. All 6th, 7th and 8th grade girls are invited to attend the activity sessions of their choice, including science lab, Christmas creations, jewelry enameling, juggling, dance, and more. Information/registration packets have been sent to all local private and Catholic elementary schools. Participation is free. For further information or registration materials, call Carol Laderer at 355-3463.

Cassette recordings of state ballot pamphlet available at library

The Sierra Madre Public Library has available the cassette-recorded version of the California State Ballot Pamphlet for the Nov. 8, 1994 election.

The set of four tapes includes information on Propositions 181 through 191 and candidate statements for those candidates running for statewide office.

The following information is provided for each of the measures: the official title and summary, the impartial analysis prepared by the Legislative Analyst, the arguments for and against the measures, and the rebuttals to these arguments.

Also available at the library is a cassette containing information about County Measure A in the Los Angeles County General Election.

These tapes are particularly helpful to blind and visually impaired voters. The tapes are playable on Talking Book recorders as well as commercially available tape recorders.

Those wishing to obtain their own copy of these tapes may call the Secretary of State, Elections Division at (916) 445-0820.

Sierra Madre Public Library is located at 440 W. Sierra Madre Blvd, 355-7186.

Halloween brought out the usual 'spooks'

SIERRA MADRE SCHOOL -- Kids of elementary school ages from Sierra Madre Elementary School pranced about Sierra Madre on Halloween with their special costumes. We snapped their picture and handed them a chocolate.

NOT JUST EVERYDAY WITCH -- Joanne Williams dons her duds, sticks on her nose and chin, both sufficiently covered with warts, paints it all green, grabs her broom, plunks on her hat, and wanders about the town on Halloween. She is rarely identifiable. Your reporter found her in Petite Salon and we asked if she planned to have her hair done. What a disdainful look we received.

MAMA PETE'S -- The little ones from Mama Pete's Nursery School (Marjorie Peterson) grabbed the rope and took off for uptown on Halloween morn. Here they are shown in the early morning light about to collect their chocolates after singing a song for everyone in hearing.

Sierra Madre News Photos

LITTLE ONES WIN -- Among those 3 and 4 year olds who won the costume contest sponsored by Kiwanis Club Monday evening were, not in order, Kathryn Swisher, Katrina Karl and Hillary Freedman. Walking to 2 years winners were Clarence Whik and Victoria Von Ehrenkrook.

YOUTH COORDINATOR -- In charge of the Halloween activities was Delia Garcia-Moriel, youth coordinator for the city.

SIGNING UP -- Kevin Weir, 6, and Lacey Dapper, 7 years, frighten Julie Bridge, president of Kiwanis Club, as they sign up for the costume contest.

WINNERS IN 7 TO 8, 5 TO 6 -- Among the 7 to 8 year winners for Halloween were the following: Lacey Dapper, Nick Bogan and Trevor Behnke. Those 5 to 6 years are Delia Rodriguez, Alexander Perez and Kevin Weir. These names are not in order that the children appear.

WALKING WINNER -- Sarah Graham, 1 year, won in the "Walking to 2 year" category.

OLDER KIDS WIN -- In the 9 to 10 years, and 11 to 15 years categories, those who won, not in order, were the following: Shannon Gallagher, Cody D'Auria and Susan Sharp, 9 to 10 years; and Andromeda Lucia, Charles Johnson and Rachel Melogno, 11 to 15 years.

REGISTERING THEIR RIGHTS -- Children at the registration table in Kersting Court, before walking with the Sierra Madre Firefighters to Memorial Park for the costume contest, are Jacqueline, Marylou, Efrain and Sergio Garcia. The firefighters led the parade of kids and parents to the park. This is a very popular activity in Sierra Madre, lasting from early morning until the carnival, sponsored by the city recreation department, and the haunted house, sponsored by Civic Club, close at about 8:30 p.m.

KIWANIS JUDGES -- Kiwanis members who served as judges in the Halloween contest which included an all-time high of 475 children registered, were as follows: Dr. Mike Tims, Julie Bridge, president; Hal Jordan and Simon Graydon. Tims is a hypnotherapist; Bridge is manager of First Federal in Arcadia; Jordon is co-owner of Gem Plumbing, and Graydon is manager of Household Bank in Sierra Madre.

SIERRA MADRE NEWS

Cuisine on the Green has ambiance, good food

Hany Fawzzy, owner of Cuisine on the Green, has a spectacular backdrop for his restaurant, with glowing candles, fresh flowers and crisp linens.

The menu is complete, with beef, lamb, fowl, fish and seafood, and a variety of each of those. The wine list is long and inviting, with something for every palette.

With our cocktails, we were served hot rolls--yes, really hot rolls--and butter. The combination was great.

For our dinners, one of us had beef, one of us enjoyed chicken and one of us had fish, to get a real taste of everything on the menu. All of us agreed that our dishes were excellent and well-done, and the presentation was very good.

Service was superlative, but perhaps that was because there were few of us there at that early hour and on a Friday evening. So often, in this type of upscale restaurant, guests choose a later dinner. We enjoyed the great service.

Dessert time is always the best and we had many fine varieties to choose from, with cream puffs, white cake with orange sauce, and, of course, Creme Brulee, among others. We enjoyed that with our decaffeinated coffee.

The restaurant is in its seventh year, and with the type of treatment we received, we'll be going there for years.

We had a lovely time.

They are located at 1000 Las Lomas Road in Duarte and they can be reached by calling (818) 359-3388. They are open seven days a week for lunch and dinner, and reservations are a must.

ENJOY DINNER AT CUISINE -- Recently enjoying dinner at Cuisine on the Green were Celeste McCreary, Don and Jan Reed. Also shown here are Hany Fawzzy, the owner, and Elie Nazzar. Sierra Madre News Photo

New season of 'Travelers and Collectors' programs

The new season of "Travelers and Collectors" programs, sponsored by the Friends of the Library, begins in November at Sierra Madre Public Library, 440 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. During the 1994-95 series you will be able to visit places as far-flung as the North Pole, China, Egypt, Indonesia, Europe and Alaska.

First in this series, on Nov. 11, is a program presented by Michael Charters entitled "North Pole Via Ice Breaker."

These programs will take place at 7:30 p.m. on the second Friday of each month. Due to remodelling work at the library, some events may be transferred to the Council Chambers at City Hall, 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.

Please call the library at 355-7186 after 11 a.m. for further information.

Restaurant Lozano features Converse and Zin with opening reception on Nov. 5

The opening reception for "Stories For Our Times," featuring Heidi Zin and Elizabeth Converse, is scheduled for Nov. 5, 1 to 4 p.m., at Restaurant Lozano.

On exhibit are installations of visual narratives by Elizabeth Converse and paintings by Heidi Zin which have developed out of collaborations during a four-year period. The artists enlarge their understanding of chosen themes through these lucid, visual dramas which demonstrate the unique powers of word and image combined.

Their most recent collaboration is a fairy-tale in six parts, uniting illuminating poetry and watercolor paintings. A woman sets out on a journey of transformation in a boat made out of a lotus flower. She meets a kindred spirit along the way and the journey they make together is a tale of universal appeal, according to the artists.

Restaurant Lozano is located at 44 N. Baldwin Ave. in Sierra Madre. The public is invited to join the artists.

Pasadena World Cup banners on sale

The city of Pasadena Arts Division is offering a limited supply of the much coveted "Pasadena Welcomes the World" banners. These artist-designed banners were hung in the city of Pasadena, and greeted the hundreds of thousands of visitors during the World Cup Soccer games held at the Pasadena Rose Bowl, June 17 to July 17, 1994.

The city of Pasadena Arts Division is currently selling the banners which proudly announced Pasadena as the site of the World Cup Soccer Games. These banners are yellow, purple, red and turquoise. Banner cost is $50. All proceeds go to the future marketing efforts of Pasadena to promote the city as a cultural destination. For additional information please call (818) 568-1220.

positive experience for visitors and a prestigious event for Sierra Madre. Shelby Pope co-chaired the committee with Jan Maddox and continued to give leadership through the '94 Centennial after Jan's death.

The committee wanted the event to be self-supporting and did not plan it as a fundraiser. Initially, the Main Street Chamber of Commerce loaned the committee $500, which was repaid the first year. A variety of fundraising activities were conceived and initiated to ensure that the Wistaria Fete was self-supporting.

In accord with the wishes of property owners Maria and Joe Feeney and Val and Bob Solt, there was no charge for visiting the Vine. Their generosity in sharing this horticultural wonder made the Wistaria Fete possible.

The contributions of hardworking volunteers was enormous. Most significant was the massive public relations and publicity campaign mounted by Jan Maddox and executed by Fran Syverson, which brought thousands of visitors from all over.

It is a betrayal of the spirit of volunteerism so prevalent in Sierra Madre and the commitment of so many hard-working individuals to give false credit to the Sierra Madre Beautification Committee. It is important to set the record straight.

Shirley McGillicuddy

Rebutting review

In response to the critic who reviewed Dracula, I would like to say the following.

These days it is hard to be a small theater. Funding by anyone is almost non-existent. Donations, volunteers, and even materials are hard to come by. This means every item is valuable and most appreciated. Dracula does not have million dollar sets, fancy costumes, and headline actors. I believe that if they had all these items, the charm of the small theater would be zero. After all, isn't some of the charm of a small theater production using one's imagination?

Your review, being very non-flattering, may keep people away and that would be a shame. At a time when theaters are having trouble, any attendance is appreciated. The review hit me as being from someone who really didn't see the same show as I or really didn't pay attention. If you had paid attention you would have been able to spell the actors' names correctly, at the very least. Didn't you read the program like everyone else? All the names are listed and spelled clearly.

This reminds me of several shows that have been reviewed at The California Institute of Technology. Just by the comments made by the critic, I wonder if they even stepped foot in Beckman Auditorium. Most of what is written can be assumed from the press releases, programs, and hearsay. Was this the case with Dracula? Could it be that you had seen the show previously, didn't like it then, and assumed it was the same? I certainly hope that a critic is not that thoughtless and dull-minded to do such a thing to a theater that is trying their best with the resources they have at hand.

I would like to commend the actors for a wonderful job, the crew for timely set changes (for which they received applause each time), good sets, and a friendly and helpful staff. All this combined made a very enjoyable afternoon. Thank goodness I never paid attention to your review.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: MARJORIE H. MUND AKA MARJORIE HENRIETTA MUND
CASE NO. BP031354

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: MARJORIE H. MUND AKA MARJORIE HENRIETTA MUND

A PETITION has been filed by WILLIAM C. MUND, SR. in the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles.

THE PETITION requests that WILLIAM C. MUND, SR. be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on November 30, 1994 at 9:15 A.M. in Dept. 5 located at 111 N. Hill St. Los Angeles CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT TO the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Technology plan presented

A new technology plan to guide the use and acquisition of technology throughout the Arcadia Unified School District for the next five years was presented to the Governing Board at last week's meeting.

The plan, based on input from students, parents and staff, will be shared with school sites and presented to the Arcadia Educational Foundation later this month prior to being returned to the Governing Board as an action item on Dec. 13.

The board unanimously approved a staff development plan for Arcadia High School in accordance with requirements of SB 1882, and the board held public hearings on a contract proposal with California School Employees Association. The financial impact of the initial proposal will be presented at next month's board meeting.

A resolution expressing concern over excess costs of education of special education students was passed, 5-0. The resolution points out the necessity of federal and state governments to address equitable funding for all special education students.

The next regular Governing Board meeting will be on Tuesday, Nov. 8, 7:30 p.m. in the Administration Center Board Room.

GERMAN AUCTION – Kristi Westphaln and Doris Pham, members of the Arcadia Red Cross Youth Disaster Action Team, help Steve Sanderson, auctioneer for the Octoberfest German Auction.

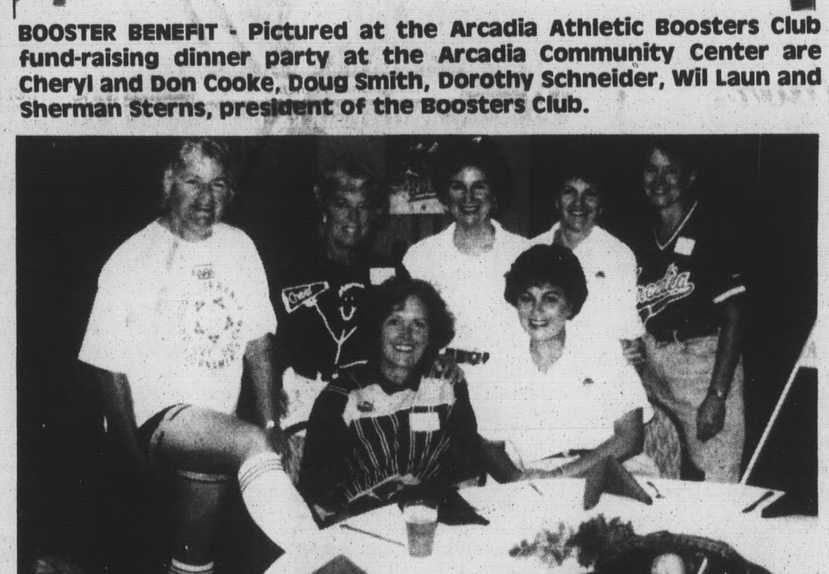

New hospital support group to begin

Plans are underway for the formation of a new guild to support Methodist Hospital in Arcadia. A tea was held recently at the home of Chris McClain to discuss forming a guild for those women in the community who would like to participate in raising money for the Replacement Patient Tower but who are not interested in in-service work.

The Auxiliary of Methodist Hospital has made a four-year pledge of $300,000 to help fund the tower. To accommodate those women in the community who are unable to become involved in the auxilary, the auxiliary board felt a guild should be an "unstructured" fundraising avenue in which to contribute to the hospital, according to guild spokesman Carmen Thibault.

The guild will sponsor one or two fundraising events a year, and the time commitment would be limited to whatever committee meetings it would take to put on the events.

The next meeting for those interested in the guild concept will be held on Monday, Nov. 7, 9:30 a.m., at Thibault's home. For the address and further information, call McClain at 355-0509.

Arcadia queen to be crowned

One girl from the five-member Arcadia Tournament of Roses Royal Court will be crowned queen at the 30th annual Coronation Ball to be held Saturday, Nov. 12, at the Arcadia Community Center. The gala event will begin with a hosted cocktail and hors d'oeuvre hour preceding the 7:30 p.m. coronation, when Steve Worsley, event chairman and immediate past president of the Arcadia Tournament of Roses, will serve as master of ceremonies.

CORONATION PLANS – Steve Worsley and Joyce Macartney go over plans for the Arcadia Tournament of Roses Coronation Ball to be held on Saturday, Nov. 10.

Members of the court are Corrie Broge, Brooke Hobbs and Laura Ursettie, 16-year-old Arcadia High School juniors; Sabrina Fox, 17, an AHS senior; and Michelle Mouton, 18, a senior at La Salle.

Tickets to the black tie optional dinner dance at $65 per person may be purchased by calling the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce at 447-2159.

'SPORTS-ROCK' FOR FUNDS – Dressed as their favorite athletes for the Arcadia Booster Club's "Sports-Rock" dinner dance fund-raiser are, seated, Charlotte Streng and Janis Avedesian; and standing, Kathy Symons, Wendy Haigh, Linda Semain, Sharon Lansford and Arline Willis. Proceeds from the event will help support athletic programs at Arcadia High School.

FESTIVAL OF BANDS MONTH – Mayor Mary Young presents a proclamation designating November as Arcadia Festival of Bands Month to Scott Sullivan and Peter Poon, of the Arcadia Music Club, sponsors of the Arcadia band review to be held on Saturday, Nov. 19.

California State Bank to host Chamber of Commerce mixer

California State Bank's Arcadia branch will host the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce Mixer on Thursday, Nov. 10, 5-7:30 p.m.

California State Bank has been serving Los Angeles County since 1979, offering a full line of both personal and business products along with specialized lending programs. The bank has grown from $42 million capital base in 1979 to $46 million in capital, $470 million in total assets, with 13 offices in Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Orange Counties.

Nancy O'Dell is manager of the Arcadia branch, located at 444 E. Huntington Dr.

Admission to the mixer at $6 per person includes hors d'oeuvres, beverages and two tickets for chances to win prizes donated by chamber members. Make reservations by calling 447-2159.

Arcadia Festival of Bands, Nov. 19

Forty top high school marching bands from Southern California will compete in the 41st annual Arcadia Invitational Band Review to be held on Saturday, Nov. 19. The parade will begin at approximately 9 a.m. at Santa Anita Park and will proceed south on Baldwin Ave. to Camino Real.

Kurt Curtis, Alex Iles and Sal Lozano, three former Arcadia students who have distinguished themselves in the field of music, have been selected as grand marshals for the Festival of Bands.

The seventh annual field tournament will be held at Arcadia High School's Salter Stadium beginning at 3:30 p.m. Admission to the field show is $5 for adults and $2 for children 12 and under.

Arcadia Scene

Words cannot describe the experiences I enjoyed as I spent last week with Charlie. I was there for many of his firsts: his first week birthday, first trip to the doctor, first walk around the block, first trip to the park, first football game (yes, we stood in the endzone and saw part of Darien High School's homecoming victory), and the happenings go on.

On the flight from Chicago to White Plains, New York, which is about a 30-minute drive from where my daughter and her husband live with Charlie in Connecticut, I sat next to a gentleman who is the former editor of one of the two Darien community newspapers. Needless to say, we had much to talk about. I'm jealous that a community half the size of Arcadia has not one but two newspapers.

The trip to Connecticut was wonderful, with good weather and a chance to see a lot of fall color to remind me what changing seasons is all about.

Speaking of fall, numerous organizations have held fundraising parties this season. Pictures of some of these can be seen in last week's paper and in this week's edition of The News. Appropriately named for the season, Arcadianns held "Autumn Silhouettes" featuring clever centerpieces with paper doll silhouettes standing in a bed of fall leaves. Mildred Shaw created the table decorations for the luncheon held at Howard Johnson's Plaza Hotel in Monrovia. Busy making sure everything ran smoothly were club president Fran Tifft, event chairman Diane Hirst and ways and means chairman Abby Westenberg. Peggy Bailey and Marge Covington sold chances on the money hat.

The Chinese auction became a German auction for the Arcadia Red Cross Octoberfest. "Big John" Tyler was chairman of the fundraiser and Steve Sanderson, auctioneer, had help from members of the Youth Disaster Action team. Elly Dunbar won two gift certificates for shopping at Nordstrom, while Diane and Chris Bade won at least eight gifts in the fun auction, which found Steve announcing the bidding price of 25 cents to $1 and people would toss the designated amount into a bowl in hopes that their number would be drawn. Bob Costarella appeared frustrated that his number (22) was not called and suggested that he was a double winner when 2 was drawn.

Attendees at the Arcadia Boosters Club "Sports-Rock" dinner dance came dressed as their favorite athletes, and the Arcadia Republican Women's Club held a fashion show luncheon to raise funds.

Because of my Charlie trip, I did miss Altrusa's big fall event, "Putting on the Ritz." I'll find out more about this fashion show and luncheon so that I can report with pictures in next week's issue of The News.

The wedding of Joe Sargis Jr. and Tammy Fleming last month was a time for former Arcadians to reunite. Mariam and Chuck Stein came down from Bend, Oregon with son Brett and his wife, Janet; and Frances and Bob Tippy, came back from their new home in Colorado Springs, Colorado. There were other former residents there, but I name these because they are part of a group which used to go bowling on a rather regular basis. That goes back some 30-35 years. It was a time when quite a few of the couples had little children, and they would take all the kids to one house, where a common babysitter would give the adults time to bowl. As the little ones grew, that program didn't work out so well, and the bowling balls were left to collect dust.

Because we missed seeing the old group, my husband and I formed the Retired Bowlers Dinner Club, and about every six weeks, the adults would get together for cocktails and go out to dinner. It was a fun way to see friends without any entertaining hassle.

What with the Steins and Tippys in town, Pinky (also known as Shirley) and Ken Forden had a Retired Bowlers Reunion Dinner prior to the Sargis wedding. Bill Carlson, who had lived in both Sierra Madre and Monrovia, came from Avila Beach with his wife, Joyce, Chuck's sister and brother-in-law, Kathy and Charlie Brown, came over from Los Angeles; and the groom's parents, Marilyn and Joe Sargis, even found time to take part reminiscing and catching up on each other's happenings.

Rotary at Twin Palms

A country French brunch buffet with wine tasting and musical entertainment will be featured at the Arcadia Rotary Club benefit to be held at Twin Palms, 101 W. Green St. in Pasadena, on Sunday, Nov. 13, 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Proceeds will be used to expand Rotary's mini-grant program for teachers in the Arcadia Unified School District.

For more information and tickets at $40 per person, call 447-3453.

'Meet the Arboretum'

Elaine Hoffman, a 19-year volunteer at The Arboretum in Arcadia, and Eileen Hubbard, president of Las Voluntarias y Los Ayudantes, will present a program on the 27-acre botanical garden when the Arcadia Community Coordinating Council meets on Monday, Nov. 7, noon, at the Holiday Inn in Monrovia.

Included in the program will be a slide presentation entitled "Meet the Arboretum."

Make reservations for the luncheon meeting by calling 914-5189. Cost of the luncheon is $8.50 per person.

Newcomers at Bullocks

The tea room at Bullock's Pasadena will be the location for the San Gabriel Valley Newcomer's luncheon on Wednesday, Nov. 9.

Cost is $10 per person, and new residents of the area are invited to attend.

April Kelcy will discuss earthquake survival and safety with a focus on pre-readiness for earthquakes.

Make luncheon reservations through Nov. 7 by calling Chris Strong at 286-0408 or Noreen Totten at 355-4741.

UPCOMING HAPPENINGS

Environmental gardening

Are your daisies drooping? Do you want to know how to save water, energy and money in your garden?

Jane Adrian, licensed landscape architect and past president of the California Nurserymen's association, will answer such questions and will help identify plants as well as help with sick plants during a seminar on environmental gardening on Tuesday, Nov. 8, 1 p.m. at the Arcadia Community Center.

To make reservations for this program open to those 50 years of age and better, call 574-5130.

Holiday arrangements

Several members of the Arcadia Garden Club will create "Holiday Flower Arrangements Made Easy" on Wednesday, Nov. 9, 10 a.m., at The Arboretum in Arcadia.

The public is invited to this program free of charge.

Call 357-2528 for more information.

Magic for Arcadianns

Alfonso from the Magic Castle in Hollywood will provide the entertainment at the Arcadianns meeting on Monday, Nov. 7. The noon luncheon event will be held at the Howard Johnson Plaza Hotel in Monrovia.

Guests are invited to attend. Make reservations at $12 per person by calling 447-0738 or 445-4255.

Ballot issues

Craig Lucas, a local attorney and member of Church of the Good Shepherd, will discuss issues on the Nov. 8 ballot during the Good Shepherd Forum on Sunday, Nov. 6, 9 a.m., in Jordan Hall on the church campus.

'Potting the Potager'

Mayita Dinos, a garden designer, will explain how to plan, plant and care for an ornamental and edible garden in a pot at The Arboretum of Los Angeles County in Arcadia on Wednesday, Nov. 9, 10:30 a.m.

The "Potting the Potager" program is sponsored by the California Arboretum Foundation.

Admission is $10 for CAF members and $13 for non-members. Make reservations by calling 447-8207.

Yard Sale, Nov. 5

The Arcadia High School Athletic Boosters Club will hold its annual yard sale on Saturday, Nov. 5, 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., on the basketball courts located on the Duarte Road side of campus.

Funds raised will support boys' and girls' athletic programs at the high school.

For more information, call Kathy Symons at 355-6520. Call her, also, to donate items for the sale.

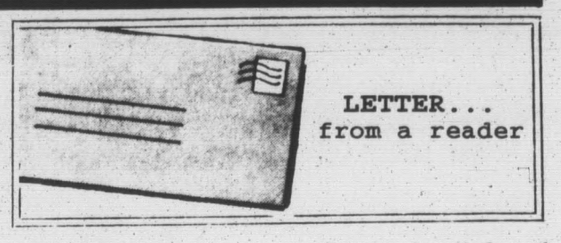

T.G.I. Friday hunt

Gradeschoolers will go on a "Wild Turkey Hunt," also known as a scavenger hunt, while they collect canned goods for hungry people in the community on Friday, Nov. 4, 6-9 p.m. The event will begin with a pizza dinner in Fellowship Hall at the Arcadia Presbyterian Church.

This T.G.I. Friday event is designed for parents to get a night off for dinner out or a quiet evening at home, while kids enjoy the time with friends.

Preschoolers' activities include stories, crafts, videos and other quiet activities.

Call 445-7470 for more information.

No on Prop. 187

No reasonable person can deny that California must find ways to deal with illegal immigration. However, Proposition 187 is not the way. We were glad to see that Jack Kemp, a California native son, and William Bennett, former Secretary of Education, agree.

The proponents of Prop. 187 tout its ability to save taxpayers billions of dollars in services to undocumented residents. The problem with that line of thinking is that any savings will be more than offset by the negative consequences of the measure.

Public education is a prime example. The current Secretary of Education, William Riley, has already stated that implementation of this law will cause California schools to lose $2.3 billion in federal funding because it would violate individual privacy under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act. Additionally, there would be costs of $100 million in the first year alone for verification and reporting of suspected illegals and potentially tens of millions of dollars annually thereafter, according to the Independent Legislative Analyst. The loss of these funds would greatly offset any benefits gained.

If the estimated 300,000 to 400,000 children are not allowed to attend school and forced to stay at home or on the streets during the day, law enforcement will not be able to handle the resulting problems without additional staff. Sheriff Sherman Block has expressed his alarm and opposes Prop. 187. In addition, The League of California Cities Board of Directors has unanimously opposed 187. They too realize the devastating effect on cities.

The California Medical Association opposes Proposition 187. If basic medical services including vaccinations are not given to prevent the spread of contagious disease, we are likely to see more T.B. and other diseases increase in the general population. We would all be at risk.

The proponents of 187 want us to send a message to Washington. Join us in writing letters that hold Congress and the President responsible for correcting the illegal immigration problem in California. Send letters to President Clinton, Senator Barbara Boxer, and Congressman David Dreier demanding that the federal government stop illegal immigration and deal with the problems it has created. VOTE NO ON PROPOSITION 187.

Beagle to present play

Dr. Nancy Beagle, drama coach at Arcadia High School, will be performing her one-woman play "This Land, My Story: Great Americans Speak" on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, Nov. 8 and 10, 7:30 p.m., in the Little Theatre on the high school campus.

"This Land, My Story," a montage of famous historical American women, features appearances of a Pilgrim woman at the first Thanksgiving at Plymouth Plantation in 1621; Sojourner Truth, the black abolitionist and suffragist; Amelia Earhart, aviator; and Christa McAuliffe, the first citizen passenger in space.

Proceeds from tickets at $5 per person will benefit the high school drama department.

Free flu shots

Arcadia Senior Citizen Services will host the Monrovia Health Department's free flu clinic on Friday, Nov. 4, beginning at 9 a.m.

Make reservations by calling 574-5130.

Ask Dr. Tami . . . Pet Corner This pet's for you . . .

Dear Dr. Tami,

I bathe my cat weekly and I still have fleas on her, sometimes within several hours after I bathe her. Help! What else can I do?

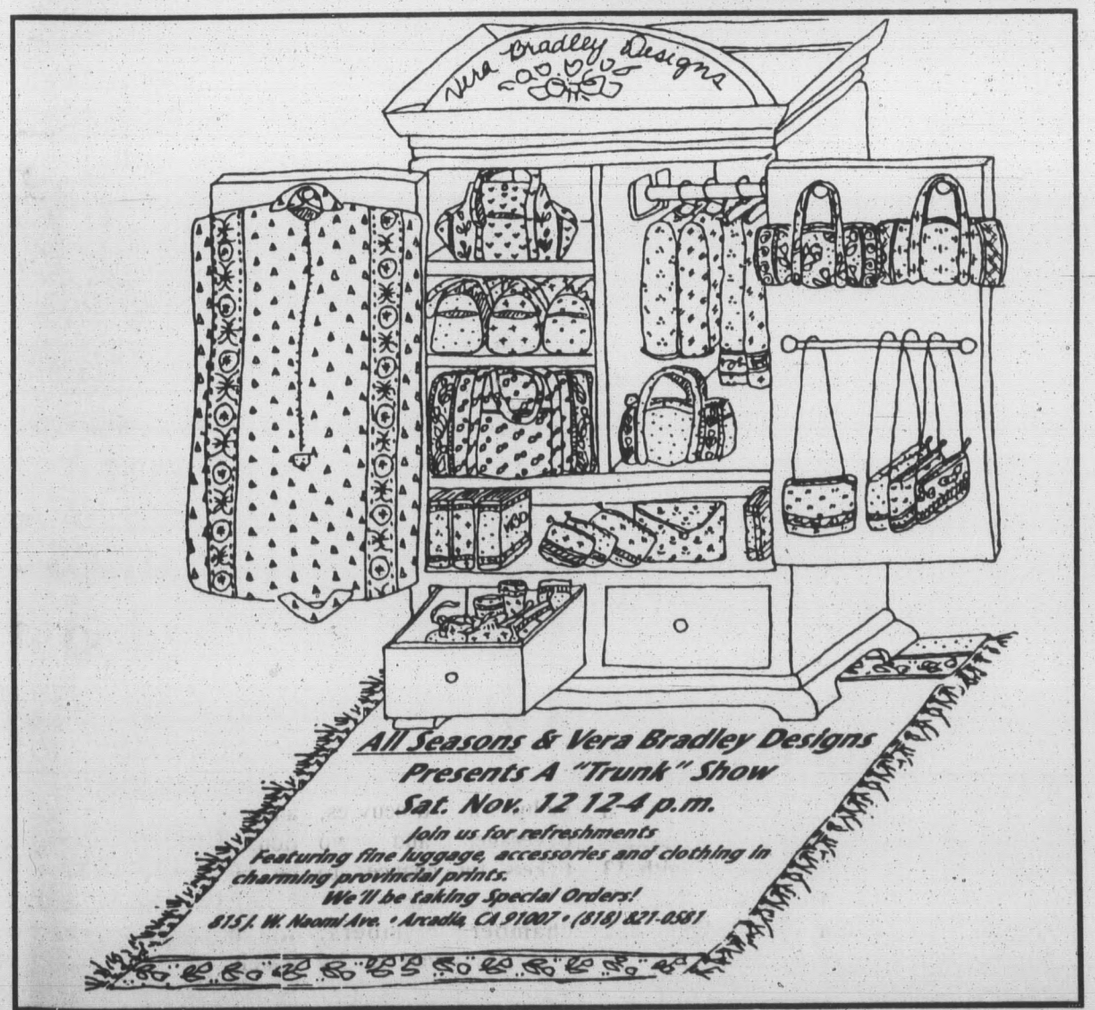

The key to controlling flea infestation is not just treating your cat, although that is part of the program. Fleas are free-living mobile insects that only hitchhike on pets when they need a blood meal. The adult fleas on a pet at any given time are only a fraction of the number of fleas in the immediate environment. Fleas prefer to hide in areas like grass and carpet; however, they can also thrive in sand and dirt. Because a flea can go from hatchling to egg-laying adult in as short as three weeks and reproduce at a phenomenal rate, repeated flea control measures are required to suppress the flea population. Fleas can be picked up each time an indoor pet goes outdoors, even briefly. Spraying the house and yard monthly and weekly bathing and spraying your cat is the best way to keep fleas under control.

If you have a question regarding your pet write "Ask Dr. Tami," P.O. Box 661270, Arcadia, CA 91066-1270

Hi! My name is Buster, and I'm a 2-year-old male Chow mix just looking for a good home. Chows have a reputation of being territorial and maybe even downright mean, but I'm here to tell you that I'm a cuddly, loveable bear-of-a-dog and I could make you the best friend ever. I love kids and would be proud to assist you in whatever ways I can, jogging companion, home security, you name it. Come visit me at the Pasadena Humane Society. My kennel ticket number is A011779. PIGSKIN FOOTBALL '94

Shepherd scores three in Arcadia Homecoming win

After what coach Doug Smith called a "flat" start, the Arcadia High School football team pulled out a come-from-behind 28-3 victory over Hoover in a homecoming game in Salter Stadium on Friday evening.

After giving up a field goal to Hoover in its first drive of the game, the Apaches got on the scoreboard in the second quarter when Jon Shepherd scored the first of three touchdowns that counted to give Arcadia a 7-3 edge at halftime. Shepherd scored his first TD on a three-yard run to cap a 40-yard drive; however, touchdown runs of five and 46-yards were called back because of clipping calls.

In the second half, Shepherd scored on runs of 35 and 20-yards, while Ryan Baderian scored on an 11-yard run. Baderian also kicked three PATs, and Autumn Lodwick kicked one extra point.

Shepherd gained 186 yards on 31 carries, while quarterback Jason Wagner completed eight of 13 attempts for 102 yards. Nick Rossomanno was his favorite receiver, with six catches for 87 yards.

The Apache defense, which held Hoover to three yards in the second half was led by Jeff Kuhlberg, who had five unassisted tackles and one sack. Brad Bedell, Brian Teets and Cam Lewark each had three assisted tackles and Baderian and Saeed Abdul-Malik had four unassisted tackles each. Bedell also had a sack, and Frank Liu managed an interception.

Hoover proved to be a tougher team than anyone expected, especially in the first half, according to Smith, who was asked what adjustments he made in the second half. The coach responded that no adjustments were made, "The kids just decided to play."

Arcadia, 2-1 in Pacific League action, will take on Pasadena, 3-0 in league, on Friday, Nov. 4, 7:30 p.m., at Pasadena City College. The Apaches have to win to have any chance for part of the league championship, explained coach Smith, who credited Pasadena with a "big, physical and talented team."

Raiders beat Angels

Denis O'Brien scored three touchdowns and quarterback Adam Duffy scored two more as St. Rita's varsity football team defeated Holy Angels, 41-14. O'Brien scored on a 60-yard sweep, a four-yard run and a 39-yard pass from Jake Benitez. He also carried for a two-point conversion.

Duffy handed to Dion Hemaratanatorn for a 61-yard touchdown run, while Sean Palmer and Joey Stanislawski scored on conversions to complete the Raiders' scoring.

The Raiders also lost a 24-12 decision to undefeated St. Dorothy of Glendora. The Bruins, who defeated St. Rita three times this year, twice in league play, have given up only four touchdowns, and the Raiders have collected three of those, but not enough to win, according to coach Randy Davies. O'Brien ran for one St. Rita score, and Benitez took a pass from John Harabedian for the other.

The varsity squad is 5-2 in league and 8-4 overall.

In B team action, St. Rita capitalized on its size to defeat Assumption of Pasadena, 40-6, as six different Raiders scored. Zach Carsia scored on a pass, Paul Forney on a sweep, Matt Kelley on a keeper, Marty Marquardt and John Maloney on pass receptions from Kelley and Chris Blackstock on a sweep.

St. Luke of Temple City was a 32-0 victim of the Raiders as quarterback Kelley threw twice to Marquardt for scores and scored himself on a keeper. Brandon Thor and Bobby Stanislawski each scored on sweeps and John Maloney took a pass from Robert Bolger for a two-point conversion to finish out the scoring.

The B team is 4-0 for the season.

Maranatha loses to L.A.B., again

For the second time in Alpha League action this season, the Maranatha High School girls' volleyball team has lost a decision to Los Angeles Baptist. The more recent loss was last week Tuesday, when Maranatha fell in four games, 13-15, 15-10, 8-15, 5-15.

Maranatha bounced back with a three-game win, 15-8, 15-5, 15-6, in non-league action with Flintridge Prep on Thursday. Avolio led with 10 kills, while Rivas had seven kills and Karen Crabb had three aces.

Maranatha took fourth place in the Ayala Tournament, in spite of playing without five starters in the final game. Rivas was named to the All-Tournament team.

Maranatha, which came out of pool play with an 8-1 record, lost to Ontario for third place after beating the team in pool play, when Maranatha was at full strength. Missing five girls who had homecoming responsibilities, Maranatha went ahead 13-9 with a younger squad before giving up six unanswered points.

Maranatha faced Village Christina on Tuesday and Marshall for a makeup game on Wednesday. Maranatha will travel today, Nov. 3, for the league finale with Western Christian.

Maranatha drops Alpha game

With starting quarterback Nathan Covey sidelined while he heals from cuts suffered in an automobile accident the week before, the Maranatha High School football team lost a 19-0 decision to Camp Kilpatrick last Saturday.

Using two quarterbacks, Mike Barr and Surfy Taylor, Maranatha tried to throw different formations at Kilpatrick, explained assistant coach Bob Chappell.

The Minutemen managed 98 yards on the ground, with Taylor gaining 66 yards on 27 carries and Gabe Schaller managed 15 yards on four carries, while Jordan McMahon carried the ball four times for 14 yards.

Kilpatrick scored on a 78-yard run in the second play of the game and went on to lead 13-0 at halftime. The winners, while getting 10 firstdowns to Maranatha's eight, capitalized on a couple of big plays or the game might have been much closer, Chappell said.

Taylor led the defense with five tackles, while Brian Wilkerson had four tackles. Nathan Murphy, Tim McAnlis, Josh Visick, Brett Hommerson and Schaller each had a sack.

"The kids played with a lot of heart and intensity," said Chappell, whose team has dropped to 0-3 in Alpha League action. The Minutemen will face Village Christina, undefeated in league play, on Saturday, Nov. 5, 7:30 p.m., at Kennedy High School.

Buchan plays fall softball

Lucinda Buchan of Sierra Madre is a sophomore at Ball State University, where she played on the women's softball team which completed the fall portion of its 1994-95 schedule with a 4-0-1 mark.

In a 5-0 victory over Butler, this Flintridge Prep graduate went 2-for-3 with a run scored.

FOOTBALL PARADE

La Salle scores first shutout

La Salle High School's 12-0 victory over St. Genevieve on Saturday was significant for two reasons, according to coach Lew Stueck. First, it was the first shutout recorded in La Salle's young football program, and, secondly, the "team played hard throughout the entire game, not letting minor adversities destroy us," explained Stueck.

Junior Rafael Lazcano scored both Lancer touchdowns in the first half. The first score came on a 41-yard run in the first quarter and then he scored on a one-yard plunge in the second period. The second score capped a 68-yard drive during which Travis Ingrao caught a 17-yard pass from Ryan Garcia. The two-point conversion was nullified for offensive pass interference.

The Lancers dominated play in the second half, but could not score, said Stueck.

Lazcano led with 155 yards on 25 carries, while Ingrao had four carries for 25 yards and three receptions for 36 yards. Garcia completed six of 13 attempts for 83 yards, with Tim Esquival making two catches for 31 yards.

The defense, which has not allowed a touchdown in seven quarters, was led by Jason Luby and Mike Cisternino, who each had two sacks. Other defensive leaders were David Roh, Chris Clement, Cory Charles, Darrell Diaz, Eric LaClaire, Padro Quintinella and Ruben Vasquez.

La Salle will travel to Roosevelt High School to face Salisian on Saturday, Nov. 5, for a 7:30 p.m. Santa Fe League contest. Salisian, 3-2 in league, is coming off a 23-6 loss to Mary Star. "If we continue to improve, we could be up to the challenge on Saturday," Stueck said.

Towns scores twice; PHS stays undefeated

Mike Green scored on a 46-yard touchdown run in Pasadena High School's second possession during last Thursday night's 28-9 victory over Crescenta Valley in Pacific League action.

Lester Towns went on to score on a run of three and 14 yards, and Baluerarush Bastaimpillai kicked the PATs to give the Bulldogs a 21-3 advantage at halftime. CV kicked a 41-yard field goal with less than a minute before the half.

After Crescenta Valley scored in the third quarter, Pasadena closed out the scoring, when Chris McAlister found William Stewart in the endzone from 12 yards out.

McAlister's 80-yard punt return was called back for a clip in the third quarter.

McAlister finished the game with 68 yards on five of seven attempts and he carried the ball eight times for 87 years. Koran Allen also did some quarterbacking, completing two of two attempts for 44 yards. In addition, he carried the ball four times for 32 yards.

Other ball carriers were Lester Towns, six carries for 73 yards; Green, five carries for 77 yards and a 30-yard pass reception from McAlister; and Joey Valenzuela, 17 yards on two carries.

Coach Jack Loos credited Towns with "outstanding defense." Other defensive leaders, according to the coach were sophomore Ken Norris, who led with eight tackles, and Eddie Scott, Chris Pickett, Fred Tatlyan and green as well as McAlister, who had an interception.

Pasadena, 6-2 for the season and 3-0 in league, will host Arcadia, 7-1 and 2-1, on Friday, Nov. 4, for a 7:30 p.m. league game at Pasadena City College. "We just hope we can stay on the field with them," explained Loos.

AHS girls win league

For the ninth time in the last 10 years, the Arcadia High School girls' tennis team has won the Pacific League Championship. This league title is the first for first-year head coach Jerry Dohling. Paul Duhart, the previous varsity coach, led this year's junior varsity squad to an undefeated season.

Arcadia concluded the regular season, going 16-0, with victories over Glendale, 15-6, and Crescenta Valley, 15 1/3 - 3 2/3, last week.

Alexis Aiken, playing in the No. 1 singles spot, finished with a 38-5 record, while June Chang and Hanna Kim completed the season 36-10 and 36-7, respectively.

Arcadia will begin CIF competition with a home match on Nov. 10. Individual qualifying is taking place this week, Tuesday and today (Nov. 3), at Pasadena High School.

Arcadia youth basketball

The Arcadia Youth Basketball League tipped off its first Sunday (Oct. 30) with many highlights. Among them were three closely fought battles in the 7th/8th grade division. The Lakers, coached by Josh Lewark, defeated the Warriors, coached by Mike Sawyer, 31-28. Randy Jackson and Navid Nouhi led the Lakers with a combined 24 points. The Warriors came back strong with Michael Barker and Grant Sawyer with the first three-pointer of the season. In the closest game of the day, the Suns, coached by Eli Fish and led by Kevin Chinn's 24 points and fast break pressure by Kong Chang, held off the Bulls, 44-42. The Bulls, coached by Barney Hamady, started off fast with Wenxi Deng and Ben Hamady fueling the charge. Game three in the upper division saw the Hornets, coached by Mike O'-Connor, sneak by the Bruins, coached by Gary Kovacic, 30-26. John Guthrie was high scorer for the Hornets with 15 and the Bruins were led by Derek Epps.

The 5th/6th grade division of the Arcadia Youth Basketball League had one blowout and two close battles. Austin Hwang scored 32 points for the Yellow team, coached by Tony Hwang in a 57-33 rout over the Grey team, coached by assistant Rich Shahoian. The Grey team was led by Landon Cortenbach's 18 points.In the next game, Jerry Dohling's Black team defeated Leon Bass's Red team, 39-27. Brent Dohling scored 27 for the Black while the Red team was led by Jason Bass, Sean Crehan and David Lin. In the last game of the day, the Blue team coached by Bob Curtis, was led by Aaron Anderson and Scott Buzin combining for 24 points to defeat the Pete Jackson-coached Orange team, 29-28. David Jackson scored 11 points for the Orange team.

Arcadia volleyball goes 8-0

Arcadia High School's girls' volleyball team continued its Pacific League dominance with two more league victories last week. Arcadia downed Glendale on Wednesday, 15-8, 15-9, 15-9, and went on to stop Crescenta Valley, 15-2, 15-9, 15-2, on Friday.

Against Glendale, Nicolle Becker had 15 kills and two aces, while Michelina Rice had seven kills and one ace. Misty Rice added five kills, two aces and five blocks, as Laurie Morris contributed six kills, one ace and three blocks.

In Friday's game, Becker led with 14 kills and five blocks, as Michelina Rice had 13 kills and two aces, while Morris added seven kills, two aces and two blocks.

With league action winding down this week, Arcadia, 8-0 in Pacific competition, faced Pasadena on Wednesday and will host Hoover on Friday, Nov. 4, at 3:15 p.m. for the league finale. Should Arcadia go on to win the league championship, the local girls will tie a CIF record with 14 consecutive league titles. Santa Fe High dominated volleyball action between 1967 and 1981 and currently holds the record.

Breeders' Cup on Oak Tree program

Santa Anita Park, where the Breeders' Cup enjoyed its most successful day ever in 1993, will celebrate Thoroughbred racing's showcase day once again on Saturday, Nov. 5.

The Oak Tree Racing Association will offer wagering on all seven Breeders' Cup races from Churchill Downs, seven on-track races (including the $75,000-added Morvich Handicap), and the entry card from Bay Meadows.

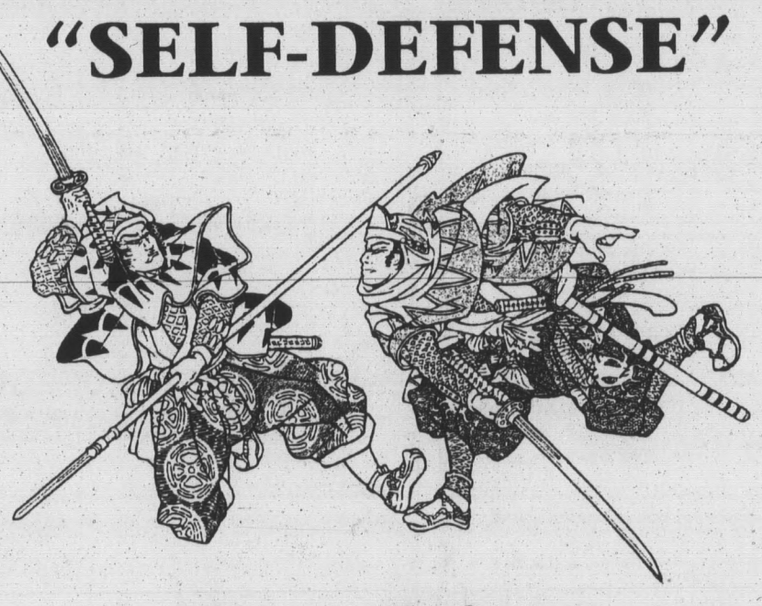

The focus will shift back to on-track action Sunday, Oct. 6, as the next to last day of racing at the 27-day Oak Tree meeting features the 18th running of the prestigious Yellow Ribbon Stakes. The Oak Tree meeting concludes Monday, Nov. 7, with the 26th running of the $150,000 Carleton F. Burke Handicap.

Gates open at 7:30 a.m. on Breeders' Cup Day, with the first live race at 9:15 a.m. and the first Breeders' Cup race scheduled for 10:20 a.m. With the exception of Breeders' Cup Day, first post time is 12:30 p.m.
